

LA FOLLETTE WILL BE ASKED TO ENTER GOVERNORSHIP RACE

Progressive Leaders, Democratic and Republican, Decide to "Put It Up" to "Bob"

STRONG FOR INDEPENDENT TICKET

Support Promised from All Sections; to Run Man Even if Senator Refuses to Enter

FOR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Fusion Movement On for Initiative, Referendum and Recall; to Safe-guard Laws

Senator Robert M. La Follette will be asked to enter the Wisconsin gubernatorial race as an independent candidate.

This was the decision of the progressive leaders—both democratic and republican—at a conference held in the hotel room of Richard Lloyd Jones, editor of the Madison State Journal, in Milwaukee, yesterday afternoon.

Sentiment was strong for an independent candidate and, according to a man who attended the conference, the refusal of Senator La Follette to run—in the event he declines—will not affect the independent plan. It is practically certain that an independent candidate will be placed in the field, he said.

Mr. Jones, who called the conference, is understood to be the man chosen to carry the word to Senator La Follette.

Among those present at the meeting were:

Richard Lloyd Jones, Madison; John J. Blaine, Boscobel; Col. John Hicks, Oshkosh; H. E. Miles, Mayor Goodland, Chris Giddings, Racine; A. W. Sanborn, Ashland; Henry Krumrey, Plymouth; E. J. Kneen, Bangor; Henry J. Cochems, Edward Gross, Dr. J. M. Beffel, James F. Trotman, Frank Mackut, Jr., and Francis E. Davidson of Milwaukee.

For the Recall
The conference also decided upon a fusion movement in support of the constitutional amendment providing for the initiative, the referendum and the recall. Progressive leaders from all sections of the state have agreed, it is said, to support this amendment.

Having already passed two legislatures it takes but a majority vote of the people of the state to amend the constitution.

In getting behind the recall amendment the progressives are insuring safety to progressive legislation in the event one of the stalwart candidates either Philipp or Karel, is elected and attempts to weaken or wipe out any of the important progressive measures written into the statutes in the last fourteen years.

Meeting Monday
A meeting of the progressives will be held in Milwaukee, probably Monday. At that meeting further plans will be worked out and at that time the independent candidacy problem will be definitely settled.

SEEKING NAVAL BATTLE NOT UP TO GERMANS BUT TO BRITISH CHALLENGERS SAYS GERMAN

Cuirassier Wounded at Battle of The Aisne

This is the photograph of a French cuirassier (cavalryman) wounded at the battle of the Aisne which has raged in France for nearly two weeks. Having become weak with loss of blood he had to dismount. The photograph shows the heavy steel cuirass which these cavalrymen must wear as part of their uniform. While it is supposed to be proof against rifle bullets it offers little protection against shrapnel and bursting shells, which have been a feature of this war.

STEADY BOMBARDMENT FIRES GERMAN FORTS

JAP FLEET WAITS FOR GERMAN DASH

Expect Cruisers Bottled Up in Oriental Harbor Will Attempt to Run Blockade

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—Bombarded by the land batteries of the British-Japanese expedition and the great war fleet steaming slowly backward and forward in front of the harbor entrance, the German concession at Kiau Chau is reported today on fire at several points. There has been no let up in the shelling of the position by night and day.

Although up to the present there has been no attempt made to carry the main positions by storm, owing to the constant fire of the German cruisers interned in the harbor, the losses to the land forces are large. The fire from the squadron and from the German land forts is extremely deadly.

Copies of a message of greeting sent by the emperor to the commander of the British forces, General Bernardisten, were made public here today. In his message the emperor said: "Japan to Her Allies. Greetings: With your valor the defeat of the common enemy is assured."

Fall Thought Near

It is believed here that the fall of the German position cannot long be delayed. It is known that the American consul has been trying to influence the German governor to surrender on the grounds of humanity. The governor, however, takes the position that he was instructed by his emperor to hold out to the last, and he says that he will do so.

As fires have been started at a number of points inside of the fortifications and the food supply is already running very short, it is believed here that he will nevertheless eventually change his mind.

Look for Dash

It is expected here that the German armored cruisers in the harbor will essay a dash for safety. In anticipation of this a special Japanese squadron made up of high speed battle cruisers and armored cruisers, is

THINKS WAR MAY WEAR OUT WEAK ALLIES OF BOTH

May Mean Long Drawn Out Struggle Between Germany and England with Others Exhausted

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND

BERLIN, Via The Hague, Oct. 2.—"The German naval policy is of necessity a waiting one. If England is dissatisfied, she has the men and the ships, and she knows exactly where our fleet is."

That was the declaration made to me today by Count Ernst Zu Reventlow, Germany's greatest naval critic, who has just returned from a visit to the German naval base, in explaining for the benefit of the United Press why there has not been a naval battle of magnitude to date.

"It is not up to our fleet—about half the size of the English fleet—to attack and give battle on their own ground," continued the count. "The English fleet has shown no disposition to court battle. When our destroyers and submarines seek them, we find them close to their own coast line."

"Ship for ship, our fleet is the equal of the British. I believe that, whatever may happen to our fleet, it will give such an account of itself that when the battle is over, there will be grave doubt whether the British are the greatest naval power in the world. And, I believe absolutely that the English themselves take such an outcome into consideration and they have been waiting in the hope that we will attack them in their waters, where everything is in their favor. You know how they sunk the Koenigin Luiz almost in the mouth of the Thames."

"How long do you think the war will last?" the count was asked. "God knows, I don't. The English say that it will be a long war and that their advantage will increase with its duration," replied the count. "It may develop into a long, bitter struggle between Germany and England, after France and Russia are exhausted. England can be expected to seek to dictate a peace against which Germany will fight to the last ditch. In its efforts to crush Germany, England has called upon the yellow hordes of Asia and France upon Africa. Thereby they have brought the future struggle for the mastery of the world much nearer, and I believe that America will be the first to feel this. Anyhow, Germany has at the present time no reason for depression."

On the center the artillery duel continues, with the Germans holding their strongly entrenched positions at nearly every point. It is stated that a number of unimportant positions have been abandoned to the French rather than uselessly to sacrifice lives in holding them. In general it is stated that the situation continues satisfactory to the general

FRENCH SACRIFICE THOUSANDS

ARTILLERY DUEL IN THE CENTER

Germans Say They Have Been Able to Hold Nearly All of Positions

BERLIN, Via The Hague, Oct. 2.

The war office in its announcement today stated that the troops operating against the German right wing were attempting a general flanking movement, but that steps had been taken to prevent their success. It was stated that the fighting on the line west of the Oise and north of Noyon, and along the line of the Somme, continues with the utmost severity, but that at no point in that region have the allies been able to carry any of the German positions. Especially severe fighting is reported north of the Somme, where the enemy, heavily reinforced, has made repeated efforts to break through the German line and outflank the German positions.

French Sacrifice Thousands
The French armies operating with Toul and Nancy as bases continue their efforts to break down the German defense. They have taken a number of positions by the sacrifice of thousands of men, only to be almost immediately driven out by the Germans in counter assaults. This has been especially so in the fighting in the neighborhood of St. Mihiel, where the Germans crossed the Meuse, retired, and then, when the French had recaptured their old positions, shelled them from all sides, killing hundreds and driving the remainder back in confusion that at times resembled a rout.

Abandon Useless Posts

On the center the artillery duel continues, with the Germans holding their strongly entrenched positions at nearly every point. It is stated that a number of unimportant positions have been abandoned to the French rather than uselessly to sacrifice lives in holding them. In general it is stated that the situation continues satisfactory to the general

AUSTRIANS WILL MOVE CAPITAL TO CITY OF PRAGUE

VIENNA, via Rome, Oct. 2.—In anticipation of the impending siege of Vienna, the emperor and the cabinet late today decided on the removal of the capital from Vienna to Prague. The date for the removal has not yet been decided, but it will be ordered as soon as it is certain that the Russians are going to move toward this city.

The military council this afternoon ordered the immediate fortification of all the Vienna suburbs.

PARIS DISPATCH SAYS THEY ARE PARTLY FLANKED

Are Alleged to Be Attacking with Utmost Vigor but Without Impression on the Lines

WANT TO SAVE LINE OF RETREAT

Experts Believe Germans Are Attempting to Save Troops on Aisne from Being Cut Off

EACH SIDE USES EVERY MAN

Naval Brigades and Indian Troops Are in Advance Line of Allies in the Northwest

PARIS, Oct. 2.—With both the German right and the allied left heavily reinforced, the battle on the northwest lines has now eclipsed in interest, developments at every other point of the long battle line.

The Germans, already partly flanked and with their lines of communication threatened, are declared to be fighting with desperation to turn the tide in their favor. They are assaulting the allied positions with the utmost vigor, but slowly the French assert, the iron ring is being extended around them.

Line Grows Northward

The line of battle each day is extending further and further into the northward. The Germans essay the offensive, but only to be driven back with loss each time. At no point have they succeeded in breaking the allied cordon.

The desperate character of the fighting now in progress is declared here to show definitely the Germans fear a part at least of their forces in the triangle of the Aisne and Oise is in danger of being cut off. They are striving to drive the line of battle further west, so that a clear way will be left for these troops to retire if necessity arises.

Hundreds of men are being sacrificed in this movement. The allies, realizing that if the Germans can carry their point, the definite conclusion of this great battle may be long deferred, are hurrying into action every available man and piece of artillery. British and French naval brigades are fighting side by side with the Indian troops recalled from the east for the war. Practically the entire army of the defense of Paris has also been pushed into action.

Trains of Wounded

Train after train made up of as many cars as engines can draw, are moving south filled with wounded. Freight and cattle cars, their floors covered with straw, have been pressed into service.

The regular and emergency hospitals here are all filled. The hospital camps established just south of the city are also crowded and now the demand is for additional facilities. The Red Cross is swamped. There are nowhere near enough surgeons. The men for the most part are forced to travel alone because of the great need for the surgeons at the front to render first aid. Appeals have been sent to England for more doctors and more trained nurses.

Many of the wounded passing through here are Germans. So fierce has been the fighting that the Germans have been unable to gather their own wounded or bury their dead and the territory gained by the allies is littered with dead and wounded foes.

Every one who has returned from the actual battle ground, unites in saying the horrors surpass belief. The artillery has done frightful execution. Whole companies of soldiers have been literally wiped off the face of the earth by the exploding shells. And to the horrors of this character of the fighting there is added from time to time desperate bayonet charges and hand to hand fighting.

Blow up Pontons

The 3 o'clock statement directly contradicts the German official statement regarding developments along the Meuse. The French statement alleges the Germans tried to lay pontoon bridges across the Meuse at St. Mihiel only to have them blown to pieces by French guns.

The statement began with the declaration that on the French left in the region of Roye, the Germans have concentrated heavily and the battle is raging violently, the action extending northward to the region of Arras. Along the center, the situation is unchanged, with a heavy artillery duel in progress. In the Woivre district the French gains, heretofore reported, are declared to

BOLD BURGLAR IN TOILS-CAUGHT IN DARING ROBBERY

Thief Who Has Attempted to Burglarize Fashionable Homes Landed This Morning

DISCOVERED IN COPELAND HOME

Was Pilfering Jewel Case of Mrs. Alec Paul When Seen; Husband Gives Chase to Prowler

SECURES $1500 IN JEWELRY

Loot All Recovered After Capture by City Alderman in Southern Section of City Early Today

Awakening at 6 o'clock this morning to find a man prowling in his room, Alec Paul, son-in-law of Col. F. A. Copeland, and residing at the Copeland home, Fourteenth and Cass streets, gave chase to the robber and later gave information to the police which resulted in the arrest of George Harris, aged 25, half Mexican and half negro, the man who has made attempts to rob residences of wealthy citizens residing in the eastern section of the city.

Jewelry valued at $1,500, the property of Mrs. Alec Paul, taken from the Copeland residence this morning, was later recovered by the police, the prowler showing the "coppers" where he had thrown it when closely pressed by Alderman Martin Rybold.

Rybold in Capture

The capture of the half-breed was due to the vigilance of citizens in the southern end of the city, who had been notified by the police to be on the lookout for the robber. He was cornered near the Western Hammock works, Thirteenth and Mormon Coulee road, a young man named A. E. Jiracek and Alderman Martin Rybold participating in the "round up."

The burglar at first showed fight, pulling a knife and warning the crowd of citizens who had surrounded him to "beware."

He finally gave himself up and was taken to the saloon of George F. Smith, Thirteenth and Mormon Coulee road, where he was held until the police, who had blockaded every exit of the city, arrived.

Many Other Attempts

The Copeland burglary was the last of a series of attempts which have startled the town. The robber chose the ultra-fashionable section of the city in which to work and among other places, in that vicinity, he has attempted to enter within the last two nights, were the homes of Alderman William Torrance, 1231 Madison street; Ed L. Colman, 401 West avenue south; Charles Schubert, Eighteenth and Madison; A. B. Moll, West avenue south and Ferry street, and Calvin W. Baker, West avenue south and Cass street.

Following the several attempted burglaries the police exercised unusual vigilance last night. Five men in plain clothes were stationed in the section visited by the prowler with instructions to stay on the job throughout the night.

The burglar, evidently well versed in police methods, did not attempt a "job" during the night hours but waited until 6 o'clock this morning when the night force leaves and the day men come on duty.

Entered Through Window

Entrance to the Copeland home was made through a window which had been left unlatched. The robber upon entering removed his shoes and left them near the scene of entrance. Cautiously he approached the stairs

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

An Interrupted Engagement

BY LOUISE OLIVER

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Frederick Adair rolled over in bed and squinted through the open door of the chitrope. He smiled contentedly when he caught a gleam of pale gray. He knew that were he a little nearer he would get the faint stripe of tango color that ran through the perfectly tailored suit. And his eyes wandered lovingly toward the drawer beside it which held the new tango hose, cravat and bordered handkerchief. In the hat box was a new pearl gray hat, and in the cupboard a brand new walking stick. A shirt, carefully selected from a new half dozen, lay over a chair, and new gloves and boots were in their proper places.

This beautiful spring Sunday was to be a day of days. At 2 o'clock he was to dine at the Emersons to meet Miss Wilda Winters. And Frederick knew as well as all the rest of Greendale that old Henry Winters had coined money almost as fast as the mint, after he had moved to New York.

Frederick rolled out of bed, bathed and made a painfully careful toilet, albeit his brain was busier planning things to say to the prospective heiress than with shoe strings and collar buttons.

It was an opportunity not to be neglected. Time and again he had put the little god of love behind him. "I'll never marry until I can find some one with—well, well enough money to keep her comfortably if anything should happen to me." He had always put it that way, even unto himself, arguing that it was all a matter of not being able to afford a heavy insurance. But in his heart he knew that he wanted a few substantial things on his own account, an automobile, a man to say, "Thank you, sir," and "Very good, sir." If he chose to kick him down stairs, and time to enjoy himself. To tell the truth, he wanted about everything that money can buy, and in exchange he was quite willing to give his carefully tailored self.

The latter was more of a sacrifice than it would appear. It was common talk in Greendale that Frederick Adair would never marry. Bachelorhood ran in the Adair family, his father being the only one of seven brothers who had married. The Adairs loved their freedom!

"It's a shame for him to waste Margaret Cartwright's time!" was the common cry. "He'll never marry her in the world."

"She knows the family failing," protested others. "Why doesn't she throw him over? She can pick any one of a dozen better than him."

Frederick finished dressing. He had tried to conjure up a mental photograph of Wilda Winters, but invariably her hair was soft and of a shining chestnut brown like Margaret's, and Margaret's violet eyes smiled at him.

When Beau Brummel sallied forth, after a critical inspection in his mirror, the annoying mental vision had vanished. Instead, on the retina of his mental eye was an impression of Mr. Frederick Adair, correctly and expensively caparisoned in the newest style, ready to lay siege to the heart, hand and fortune of Miss Winters.

It was too early to present himself at the Emersons. The spring morning being exceptionally fine, with grass, trees, sky and flowers more vividly colored than he ever remembered having seen them before, he wandered into the park. Besides, by so doing he need not pass Margaret's house. Someway he wished to avoid her today. But as luck would have it, Margaret returning from church decided to take the path in the park, too, and they met.

"Darn it!" was his mental ejaculation when he recognized her. Then his eyes widened with admiration. In a new suit of silk, the exact shade of her eyes, and a little tip-tilted hat with blue flowers, she was adorable. With a background of green, and the clear waters of a tiny lake that reflected the sky—had anything prettier ever existed? One of the bachelor Adairs had once had a picture hung in the National gallery. Frederick had inherited an eye for color.

"Good morning—what shall I call you—Madam Ceres? The spring doesn't come until you appear!"

She laughed and held out her hand. "Good morning, Mr. Brummel. Thank you for your compliment, but Ceres only made potatoes grow. Besides, I'm not madam."

"Of course! I always say the wrong thing." He glanced at his watch. There was still plenty of time before dinner. "Where are you going? And may I go along?"

"I'm going home, and you may go along. I was just hoping to see you today. I'm going away tonight."

"Away? For how long and where, may I ask?"

"I am going forever and always, to answer your first question, and to New York, thence to Europe to study, if all goes well. It's my music."

A tiny cloud hung between the sun and the gay little park for an instant. The shadow seemed to chill him. In a moment the world had changed. Forgotten was Miss Wilda Winters, heiress to millions.

A curious pain was gripping his heart. Margaret was going away to be swallowed up by the big world. He was about to lose her.

"Why—I hadn't any idea of this. You never said anything about going. Isn't it rather sudden?" He managed to get out.

She looked at him curiously.

PETROGRAD STORY OF BALTIC BATTLE

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2.—Belated reports of the attempt of the Germans to land an expedition in Cuieland, on the Baltic were received yesterday. A German squadron conveying a fleet of German transports, appeared off Windau on September 24. They tried to land, but the harbor forts opened on the German fleet and drove it away. The next day two German cruisers returned and bombarded the lighthouse, destroying it. Some of the German ships were damaged by the shells from the fort.

The above dispatch from Petrograd explains the reported battle in the Baltic when the German admiralty at Berlin reported on September 24 that all but fifteen units of the Baltic fleet were in action.

The Fashionable Way
"Do you know, Mary, that we are spending every cent I earn?" "Well, I don't see why you should complain. All the other people in our set are spending a good deal more than they earn. What's the use being so penurious?"

"Yes, a little. I had a letter yesterday."
"But I don't see why you want to go. Your friends are all here."
"Oh, no! One makes friends anywhere."

The lightness of her tone stabbed him. Here was a new Margaret who was going away, and glad of the prospect. He had always supposed that had he taken the notion to propose she would never have hesitated for a second to say "Yes."

Now she appeared to be unattainable. It was the first time in his life that his vanity had been hurt, a vanity that had stifled love.

"Margaret!"
"Yes?"
"I can't let you go!"

"Why, Frederick, I don't understand. Can't let me go? Why, pray?"
"Because I love you!"

"Because I love you!" he repeated, trying to get a glimpse of her eyes. "Don't you think you might come back and marry me? Or, better still, not go at all. I'm done for, Margaret, if you do."

"I—I might think about it, Frederick," she said softly. "It is rather hard to unmake my mind. Won't you come home with me to dinner?"

And the Emersons with Miss Wilda Winters waited in vain for their guest until the telephone announced that he had been unavoidably detained.

PLOT INQUIRY IS HALTED BY JUDGE

Says Development of Edwards Case Is Frame-up to Discredit Prosecution

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Federal Judge Landis abruptly halted the inquiry into allegations that a white slavery indictment against William Rufus Edwards, wealthy Minnesota lumberman, was the result of a conspiracy, by declaring his belief that the allegations were part of "an apparent frame-up" to discredit the prosecution of Edwards.

Judge Landis gave a clean bill of health to Charles E. DeWoody and other federal officials here who were mentioned in affidavits filed in behalf of Edwards. He declared that witnesses he has heard have utterly disproved the intimation that Miss Ada M. Cox, complaining witness against Edwards, paid money to any federal official in Chicago.

Paul E. Hughes, former reporter on the Chicago Examiner; John P. Cummings, a manufacturer, and Mrs. Sydney L. Berry, a hair dresser, who made affidavits containing alleged statements by Miss Cox, were denounced by Judge Landis. The judge, however, exonerated Mrs. Edwards, wife of the defendant, and her mother, Mrs. Turner, from blame.

"I do think these good women have been deceived," said Judge Landis, referring to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Turner. "I think that some one should have stepped in and taken them away from these male creatures."

Judge Landis made his findings after Lewis Drill, St. Paul attorney, who represented Miss Cox in her breach of promise suit against Edwards denied that any money had ever passed between him and any federal official.

WATCH TO BAR PLAGUE IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The watchful eye of the United States public health service is today upon Italy, Turkey and some of the Balkan states, where bubonic plague and cholera appear to be spreading. Latest reports from American consuls report the appearance of ten more cases of plague in Catania.

So far the service has taken no special precautions, but the health officers at large ports are watching all vessels from Italy and Asia.

The Philippines produce about 10,000,000 gallons of alcohol a year, most of it being made from the sap of the nipa palm.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people, naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. What the Wild Story — Goose Brought From The Northland.

A Big Wild Goose in a Crate.

"I HAVE told you before about the migratory habits of birds, haven't I, kiddlets?" asked daddy.

"Yes, but we don't object to hearing something more," said Evelyn, snuggling down beside daddy and reaching around to give Jack a sly dig with her bare toes.

"Very well, then," said daddy and began his story.

"Once upon a time a great ship was chartered and laden with everything needed for a long trip at sea.

"The crew of the ship was made up of men who were filled with the spirit of adventure, for, you see, this ship was going away up into the icy regions of the north exploring.

"One of the officers of the ship, Lieutenant Crandall, was a young man and was engaged to be married to a beautiful girl who was very much opposed to the exploring trip. She cried and cried and felt so bad about it that the lieutenant would have remained home could he have done so without seeming to be cowardly.

"He explained all this to her, and at last Alice consented to let him go.

"The day the ship sailed Alice stood at the dock and waved her handkerchief until the ship was only a speck in the distance.

"Then began for her the cruel suspense of waiting for the ship to return. She had wireless messages from Alaska telling her that all was well with the ship, the crew and the gallant lieutenant.

"No further word came, and several months later official notice was sent out to all the newspapers that the ship which had gone so gallantly out to explore was lost with all her crew.

"Of course this was a terrible shock to Alice and made her very ill. The news of the loss came in August, and it was the last of November before Alice could sit up in bed for a little while.

"One day she saw the parcel post man coming along with a big parcel, and he rang their doorbell. The maid went to the door, and, what do you think, there was a big wild goose in a crate, and the crate was addressed to Miss Alice Waldorf; also there was a letter addressed to her.

"That goose had been very slightly wounded by a hunter, and when he went to bag it he found its leg bound around with a piece of silk olecloth. It was perforated in such a way that the perforations made words.

"It was a message from Lieutenant Crandall, who said he and a sailor had been rescued and as soon as possible would be home.

"That goose had flown all the way from Alaska to the Louisiana swamps."

WALL STREET TAKES ITS OWN MEDICINE

It is rather a joke on Wall street that Carranza has used Wall street weapons on the money sharks of that illustrious center of financial adventure.

It is an old trick of Wall street to get a bare majority of the stock of an enterprise and then "fire" the officers and run the property to suit itself.

Wall street is heavily interested in the Mexican railways, in which for some time the Mexican government has been a minority stockholder. Carranza secured enough stock to give the government a majority. Then he "fired" the Wall street officers and directors and officered the road with government officials.

Now, while the ability of the government to make the roads pay is being tested, Wall street will experience the, to it, novel sensation of holding the bag.

A PRETTY LESSON IN A DOUBTFUL CAUSE

How easy it is to defame, how more than difficult to restore the assassinated reputation.

Here's an illustration offered by "The Fri."

Once upon a time a peasant was guilty of defaming his neighbors, spreading foul scandal concerning them.

And behold, there came a time when he went to the parish priest in confession. And after the peasant had confessed, the priest, being a man of wisdom, ordered the man to do penance as follows:

He was to take a live goose under his arm and walk for five miles, and every step he took he was to pluck a feather from the goose and throw it in the air. The wind was high and blowing hard, and the man started out and did as he was ordered, every step pulling a feather from the goose and throwing it in the air.

And when he came back to the home of the priest, the poor goose was robbed of every feather. And the peasant thought that this completed the transaction. But the priest said, "No! Not yet! Not yet! What you must do now is to go over that same route, pick up every feather that you plucked, and put it back in the goose exactly as it was before."

Indeed should we be careful of our indictments. Falsehood is like the wind—it can not be recalled. To revamp the soiled name is as difficult as to "unscramble an egg." However, Elbert Hubbard's mission seems to be to shield the rich rather than to defend the just. Too bad so clever a thing was written in defense of the "powder trust." Where speech is free the guilty live in fear, and raise up champions of their rascality.

WARRING AGAINST WAR IN TIMES OF PEACE

The tendency of responsibility to dissipate dogma, to compel men to meet emergency with the practical things of an unfinished civilization at the expense of the philosophy of a better day, is illustrated by the following paragraph from a letter written by Philip Scheideman, a leading socialist writer of Berlin:

We demand in our program a militia instead of a standing army. * * * We demand protection by a militia.

In common with other socialists Scheideman has for years been declaring war against war. Over four millions of socialist voters in Germany have been doing the same thing. But when, in the dynastic preparation for war, immense sums were asked for war preparations during the past two years, the 111 socialists in the reichstag voted solidly for the appropriations; when the call to arms came the socialists reported to the colors with enthusiasm. The socialist legislative leader said the "Russian menace" altered the situation and that Germany can "rely upon us."

These men—these socialists—are they who must pay most in money and life. If they are willing to pay, it is their business. However, it is not enough to the cause of world peace that its chief advocates are for peace in peace and for war in war.

JUNIOR CHAIRMAN

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 2.—William S. Hildner of Wheeling, W. Va., a junior, has been appointed chairman of the university homecoming committee to take charge of the annual reunion of alumni and former students on the day of the Chicago-Wisconsin game here, October 31.

TO CONFER DEGREE

The Patriarch degree of the Odd Fellows lodge will be conferred to-night upon Rudolph encampment No. 8, at the Odd Fellows hall. A banquet will follow the work. Sparta and Viroqua encampment members will probably attend in force.

HIGH GIRLS TAKE THEIR FIRST DIP

For the first time since its completion the girls of the La Crosse high school were allowed to use the high school swimming tank last Wednesday. Although the girls' locker rooms now under construction are not quite completed it was decided that the girls could use their old lockers until the new room is ready for use. Then certain days will be set aside for the girls and certain others when the boys may use the tank.

There is only one thing in this world as uncertain as a woman, and that is some other woman.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

A Universal Language

A crook can make folks talk about his piety. Forgetting all his erstwhile notoriety,

Can shine resplendent in "the best society."

And drink out of the soup tureen; Can eat pie with his knife in all simplicity,

And test convention's utmost elasticity, He makes the folks all call it eccentricity,

If he has got the old long green.

He tours the foreign countries with the greatest ease,

Though languages are different across the seas,

He talks with equal fluency with Cingalese,

And Turks and Moors with air serene; He speaks a language that they can understand,

From Greenland's icy mountains to the coral strand,

The conversation vehicle of every land.

The language of the old long green.

She Probably Didn't

Worn out by a long series of appalling French exercises, wherein the blunders were as the sands of the sea, a hapless high school mistress declared her intention of writing to Florence's mother. Florence looked her teacher in the face. "Ma will be awfully angry," quoth Florence, "I am afraid she will, but it is my duty to write to her, Florence." "I don't know," said Florence doubtfully. "You see, mother always does my French for me." The teacher is wondering whether she will write.

She Left, All Right

Mrs. Allen's new servant came to her the morning after her arrival and said:

"I'm going to leave yez, mum, today. I'll not stay any longer."

"Going to leave?" cried Mrs. Allen in amazement. "Why in the world are you going to leave so soon?"

"Well, mum," said the girl, "when I came yesterday mornin' you gave me the keys to yer trunks and drawers and jewel cases to kape for yez."

"Why, yes, so I did," said the mistress; "that showed that I trusted you."

"What is the matter?"

"Well, yer see, mum," said the servant, "they don't one of 'em fit."

Mistaken Identity

It must not be supposed that because the Kaiser quoted Shakespeare

"To be or not to be"—in his windy manifesto His Majesty is a good Shakespearean. The contrary may be surmised from an incident which occurred at a lunch at one of the Berlin embassies. An English diplomat was discussing some big affair of the moment with a lady. "As our immortal William has observed," the diplomat remarked, "There is a tide in the affairs of men that, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

The Kaiser looked puzzled. "That is quite true," he is said to have acquiesced, "but I don't remember saying it."

"Where are you going for the summer?"

"I don't know," said the weary citizen.

"Well, I can tell you of a place where you'll find no mosquitoes, no noise, no inferior food, no fatiguing requirements as to dress; where the fishing is always good and the temperature ideal."

"I know," replied the weary citizen. "There is such a place. But I don't feel like starting for heaven yet."—Washington Star.

Regain the Mastery Over Blood Trouble

No Matter How Disheartening You Can Overcome It.

Blood disorders are quickly checked by S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It rushes into the blood and in three minutes has traversed the entire circulation. It penetrates to where the blood is made; it washes out those spots and places where stagnation has settled. It cleanses the membranes, drives irritation from the joints, fills the blood stream with vitalizing influence and from head to foot creates conditions that make for blood health. There are people in every community who know this to be true. They have used S. S. S. for severe forms of rheumatism, for indolent, ulcerated spots, for eruptive skin diseases, for any and all those bodily conditions caused by blood loaded with impurities. Being a pure product of Nature it can not hurt the stomach and has therefore been the refuge of a host of people misguided in their dilemma by first flying to those dangerous mercurial drugs which have claimed so many unfortunate. If the skin breaks out in a rash, if boils or other eruptions appear, if there are blood risings or any other indications of impure blood get a bottle of S. S. S. at once of any druggist. But beware of substitutes. If in doubt as to your trouble or you wish competent medical advice free, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 58 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This department is known far and wide as one of the great sources of help to blood sufferers. But don't delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. today.

PUMPKIN PUDDING

Into a pint of stewed pumpkin beat the whipped yolks of five eggs, two pints of milk, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and half a teaspoonful each of powdered mace, nutmeg and cinnamon. Last of all stir in lightly the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs, turn the mixture into a buttered pudding dish and bake until set. Serve hot with a hard sauce.—The Mother's Magazine.

MOCK VEAL CUTLETS

Take three cupfuls of cold minced veal. This may be made from the cheapest cut you can buy. Three cupfuls of cold boiled rice, one small onion minced, season with pepper, salt and butter. Moisten with a little cream or some of the veal stock and shape like cutlets, roll in beaten egg and then in cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat in a wire basket.—The Mother's Magazine.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder disease. Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

The One Place

"Where are you going for the summer?"

"I don't know," said the weary citizen.

"Well, I can tell you of a place where you'll find no mosquitoes, no noise, no inferior food, no fatiguing requirements as to dress; where the fishing is always good and the temperature ideal."

Cornered

"Pa, are you descended from a king?"

"I don't know. I never took the trouble to find out."

"Why didn't you?"

"Because I have never cared whether I was or not."

"Wouldn't it make you proud if you knew William the Conqueror was one of your ancestors?"

"Not at all. In fact, I'd want to keep it as dark as possible if I knew that I were a descendant of William the Conqueror or of almost any other old king, for that matter."

"Say pa, I want a quarter."

"You can't have it."

"You give me a quarter or I'll tell ma what you said about not wantin' to be descended from a king!"

No Reason to Complain

"Here," said the disgruntled actor, "I don't want this part. If I play it I'll have to die in the first act."

"Well," replied the manager, "what are you kicking about? You die a natural death, don't you? If you got a chance to come on in the second act you'd get killed."

The wind made strange noises overhead and at times one could be almost certain there was the stamping of a man's foot upon the earthen roof. The distant cry of a wild beast, and the nearer yelping of hungry wolves mingled with the whistling of the wind. Sometimes Wilfred rose and, passing noiselessly to the window, raised the curtain with a quick gesture to stare out on a dark and stormy night; and once, in doing so, he surprised a pair of red eyes under bristling gray hair which seemed to glow hot as molten lead, as the fire from the open stove caught them unaware.

"If my arms were tied," remarked Bill, "I'd rather trust myself to that coyote than to Red Kimball. I hate to think of Brick out yonder on the mountain, all alone, and no fire to warm him, afraid to smoke his pipe, I reckon. Well, this kind of thing can't last long, that's plain."

It was Wilfred's conviction that "this kind of thing" could not, indeed, last long, which kept him awake half through the night, and yet, when the morning sunlight flooded the cave, it seemed impossible that deeds of violence could be committed in so peaceful a world. In that delusion, however, he could not long remain; Lahoma's next letter came confirmatory of his worst fears.

"Just read it aloud, Wilfred," said Brick, as all gathered about the lantern in the retreat at the mountain-top. "We're all one, now, and I've got no secrets from you—at least none that's known to Lahoma. And if the case seems immediate, I reckon you'll prove game, son."

Wilfred nodded briefly. "My horse is ready saddled," he said, as he opened the letter addressed to Willock. "As soon as I've read 'Yours truly,' I'll be ready to jump into the saddle, so I say 'good-by' now!"

CHAPTER XVII. Life on One Condition.

"Dear Brick and Bill:

"I put Bill in, because I am sure that by this time he has been told what was in my last letter, and I know he's true blue. I have been so excited since finding out that Red Kimball is determined on revenge, and that Mr. Gledware may be a witness for him, that I can't think about anything but the danger at the cave. I feel that I ought to be there, to lend a hand, what will you do without me, if that horrible highwayman comes slipping around Turtle Hill, or creeps down the north mountain in the dead of night? And I would on my way there, now, if I didn't have to find out more about their plans."

"They have come back from the picnic, and I am on the watch, feeling sure Red Kimball will come again to have another talk with Mr. Gledware. But he hasn't come yet, and everything is quiet and peaceable, as if things were going along as things always do and always will—it makes me dreadfully nervous! So, as it seemed that nothing was going to happen, I decided to stir up something myself. When there's no news, why not make some of your own? I made some."

This is the same day I overheard that plot in the library, but it is night. When it was good and dark, Annabel came up to my room where I was watching the road from my window, and she sat down and began talking about the picnic and what a fine time she had had, with a good deal about going to Europe. She was all flushed and running over with talk, and after a while it came clear that she's just been engaged to Mr. Gledware."

"It seemed to me it would be like fighting behind bushes to tell her what I thought of Mr. Gledware, while under his roof and at his expense, so I opened up matters by talking about Wilfred Compton. I told her how faithful and true Wilfred has been to her all these years, carrying her letters next to his heart, and dreaming of her night and day, and how he came to see me, once, because it had been two years since he'd seen a sure-enough girl, and how I tried to interest him as hard as I could, but he never wanted to come back because his heart belonged to Annabel."

"After a while she began to cry, but it wasn't over Wilfred, it was over Edgerton. When Wilfred went

RUSHFORD WEDDING IS PRETTY AFFAIR

Louise Hentze and William Nation Become Man and Wife at Emmanuel Church

RUSHFORD, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Emmanuel church of this city was the scene of a very pretty wedding last Tuesday afternoon, at half past one o'clock, when Miss Louise Hentze, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hentze, became the bride of William Nation. The church was daintily decorated; altar and chancels being covered with ferns, autumn leaves and pink and white cos-mos. The wedding march, played by Mrs. H. S. Craig, who presided at the pipe organ, heralded the approach of the bridal party. The groom, with his brother, Albert Nation, as his attendant, preceded the bride, who entered upon the arm of her father, the bridesmaid, Miss Genevieve Henze, a sister of the bride, coming next. They were met at the church railing by Rev. Foster, who with the impressive ring service, spoke the words which made the contracting parties one. The bride was very daintily gowned in white silk with shadow lace trimmings, her long, filmy veil being held in place by a few white roses, the shower bouquet which she carried being also composed of bride's roses.

The bridesmaid was gowned in a very becoming dress of white. The couple went up to Mantorville, Minn., for a short visit with the cousin of the bride, after which they will settle down to housekeeping on the former Moore farm, five miles northwest of this city.

Word was received last Saturday that Hans Amold, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Amold, who reside in this city, had been killed. He was a policeman in St. Paul and it was in pursuance of his duty that he received his death wound.

Hilton Green is driving the city delivery wagon at present.

Five children of Mr. Bjugre, who is to be one of the new instructors in the Bible institute, began work in the city schools Monday.

The game of football at Lanesboro last Saturday resulted in a score of 23 to 9 in favor of Lanesboro. The Rushford team showed the lack of hard practice, the line being especially weak. The Lanesboro high school and teachers gave a reception for the visitors Saturday evening.
Houston's basketball team played the Lanesboro girls the same afternoon, losing with a score of 8 to 7.

Fourteen girls were out for basket ball practice last Monday night, the new standards for the goals having been put in place Friday and Saturday.

A phonograph has been decided upon as useful in the schools of Rushford and instructors and pupils are beginning plans for its purchase.

Mr. Stevens, foreman at the Star-

Republican office, is in Chicago. His place is being filled by Mr. J. E.
Parish until his return.

Miss Caroline Erickson, a former resident of this city, is the guest of friends in and around Rushford.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blanchfield and daughter, Miss Bertha, autoed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ronnenberg last Tuesday afternoon.
Mrs. Ronnenberg was formerly Miss May Blanchfield.

Mrs. W. W. Beers, for many years a resident of Rushford, but now of Quincy, Ill., has been the guest of her many friends here for a few weeks. She left Tuesday of this week for a short stay with friends in Minneapolis, after which she will go back to Quincy.

Mrs. May and little daughter, who have been the guests of Mrs. Way's father, Mr. E. G. Kingsford, of North Rushford, will return to their home at Park Rapids, Minn., this week.

Mr. Louis Peterson of Harmony, has been the recent guest of the Ole Quarve and John Peterson homes in this city and of the Ensrud home in Lanesboro.

Conrad Mindrum and Olaf Land-verk, two young men from Highland Prairie, have entered the city schools making their home for the winter with Mrs. Katherine Johnson of Ferry street.

The Misses Christie McLeod and Alice Moore were recent La Crosse visitors.

Rev. Bantly has been in LaCrosse late to officiate at the funeral services of Mrs. A. B. Lyon, whose death occurred a few days ago after an operation for cancer.

Mrs. Clauson has been a recent visitor of the Byboth family and other old friends at Bratsberg.

Alice Berg has been a recent guest of Miss Catherine Humble of Brats-berg.

Mrs. Albert Ronnenberg, residing northeast of this city, has been very ill, but is now well on the road to recovery.

Miss Olive Tagland, a trained nurse and graduate of the Lutheran hospital at La Crosse, is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hanson and little son have been spending some time in the Twin Cities.

The Sunday school of the Rush-ford Lutheran church, which is always discontinued during the summer months, commenced work last Sunday.

Mrs. H. M. Smith, Mrs. Parmenter,
Mrs. Thomas Ferguson and Miss Alma Hellerud have been La Crosse visitors recently.

The annual Experience Sociable of the ladies of the Rushford Presbyterian church will be held at the church basement as usual this year on the evening of Friday, Oct. 9th.

Mrs. Wm. Robertson, her daughters, Misses Bernice and Beth and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Craig were the guests last Saturday afternoon, of Mr. and Mrs. Simmonds of Lanesboro.

When the Stork Special came through this city last Friday, it left a valuable consignment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ness of Ferry street. A bright young miss was intrusted to their care.

Mrs. Moore, son Howard, daughter Alice and Miss Helena Olson, were Hart visitors last Sunday afternoon, going up to take Miss Olson back to her school at that place.

Mr. D. J. Tew has recently returned from quite an extended trip in the western part of the country.

Word reached this city a few days ago of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Carston Wolf of Minneapolis.
Mrs. Wolf was formerly Miss Esther Pederson, a very popular Rushford young lady.

An old-time Rushford boy, Matt Desmond, has lately been greeting his many friends in and around this city. His home is now in St. Paul.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Woxland of Brooklyn, who has been ill for some weeks and has been at the Lutheran hospital in La Crosse, was brought home a short time ago, somewhat improved, but still quite weak.

Although State Auditor Iversen did not remain very long in this city when he visited it a few days ago, a number of friends had time for a hearty handshake.

Mrs. James McDermid, who has for a few days been a guest of the Mrs. A. McDermid and D. J. Nestor homes in this city, has departed for her home in or near Orient, S. D.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents.
This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling of the hair.

A well known down-town druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two; it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

BRITAIN MODIFIES CONTRABAND RULES

Foodstuffs and Similar Goods in Neutral Bottoms Will Be Allowed to Get to Holland

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Threatened complications arising from the seizure of a shipment of American copper consigned to Germany by English authorities, on the ground that it was "conditional contraband," were averted when Ambassador Page wired from London to the state department that Great Britain had decided to modify her attitude on what constitutes "conditional contraband." In the meantime shipments in neutral bottoms, of foodstuffs and similar goods to Holland, will not be considered contraband.
The case, now before the state department, was the seizure of American copper consigned to Germany. Great Britain seized it, contending it was designed for use in manufacturing torpedoes. It was announced that the American shippers will be fully paid for the copper.

Secretary Bryan has a formal opinion by Solicitor General Johnson that "conditional contraband consists of articles susceptible of use in war as well as for purposes of peace; in consequence their destination determines whether they are contraband or non-contraband."
Officials were inclined to believe that this opinion sustains the seizure of the copper shipment.

Discuss Food Problem
LONDON, Oct. 2.—The diplomatic representatives of the United States and Holland have been in conference with Sir Edward Grey regarding the carrying of food cargoes to Holland in neutral bottoms. Already there is a grave shortage of foodstuffs in Holland. Great Britain is considering confiscating cargoes for Holland, because they might reach Germany.
This Holland denies.

CRANBERRY PUDDING

Cream half a cupful of butter, add slowly one cupful of sugar, then add three well beaten eggs. Mix three tablespoonfuls of baking powder with three and a half cupfuls of flour;
add this to the mixture alternately with half a cupful of milk. Add two cupfuls of cranberries which have been washed, dried and floured with some of the flour already measured.
Turn into a buttered mold, cover closely and steam two hours. Serve with hard sauce.—The Mother's

SOLDIER PRAISES SIR JOHN FRENCH

LONDON, Sept. 19.—By a rail to New York.—The tribute of a soldier to Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British forces in the field is contained in a letter from Private G. Busby, received from the front.

"General French is very popular with his men," writes Busby.
"There's no 'side' about him, and when he passes along he's just as ready to smile on an ordinary Tommy as on the highest officer. He takes a keen interest in our life in the trenches, and all feel that he's just the man to turn to in trouble, and there's not one of us wouldn't go through fire and water for him."
"He's not one of your show men, but a hard fighter and worker from head to toe and he expects every man under him to be the same. No matter how tired we may be we always turn out to give him a cheer when he passes through the lines, as he does now and then. He stops when he has time to have a chat with us just for the sake of finding out what we think about it all and whether we are being properly looked after."

Something like a huge document envelope is a new finding container for filing architects' and engineers drawings.

TRY THIS IF YOU HAVE DANDRUFF

Or Are Bothered With Falling Hair or Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

If you find most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store.
It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVE IN FALL PROGRAM

Especial Attention Will Be Paid to Building Up Extension Department

WILL ORGANIZE INDUSTRIAL CLUB

Enthusiasm for Organizing Federation of Employed
Girls' Clubs Spreads

The Young Woman's Christian association is wide awake this fall.
Have you been down there recently?
At the first meeting of the board of directors, great plans were laid for a renewal of activities.

Especial attention is to be given to the building up of an extension department under the guidance of the new secretary, Miss Ada M. Ganschow. Her experiences as a resident in the Northwestern university settlement of Chicago, and as a leader of clubs and director of playgrounds makes her well fitted to carry out the work here. Visits are being made now to factories with a view to organizing industrial clubs.
The enthusiasm among employed young women for a federation of industrial clubs is spreading all over the country. Most of the associations in our largest cities are boasting them today. Detroit's league has a membership of 1,283, representing forty-three factories. The federation of Minneapolis is proud of a membership of more than 150 in its first year.

Girls Interested
Of course before a federation is possible, there must be strong separate clubs. Many La Crosse girls are signifying their intention of entering this nation wide movement.
Some of these groups will meet at the central building of the association. Others will meet for convenience at the various chapels of the city.

Gymnasium classes will be continued under the direction of Miss Ganschow. An opening rally is to be held in the gymnasium on Monday night, October 5th. Every girl who has ever had gymnasium, and every girl who wants to begin this year, is expected to be there.

To Study Bible
Registration for all classes are coming in this week. Many girls of today are experiencing a fresh interest for the study of the Bible. Miss Frances Goodhue, the general secretary, will lead a class in an informal study of Old Testament heroes.

Only eighty-six days until Christmas. The Christmas club, open to all association members, is going to take time by the forelock. They will gather for an exchange of ideas every Tuesday evening. Other classes will be formed if there is a sufficient demand from the young women.

Girls' Work Schemes
The girls' work department has some fine new schemes in mind. It is their purpose, not to build up a mi-niture girls' work separate from the adult department, but to adapt and extend all the adult activities to the younger girls. The sewing class and gymnasium work for girls up to twelve years will be continued, meeting every Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Other clubs will be organized for girls from the upper grades and from the high school. There promises to be a large gathering of girls in the gymnasium Saturday afternoon, October 3, to hear about gymnasium classes, the Daughters of the Colonial Hearth and Camp Fire.

Meeting Saturday
The regular October business meeting of the board of directors has been announced for Saturday afternoon, October 3, especially to meet and confer with Miss Josephine Stone, a special worker sent out by the central field office of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association. Miss Stone is a graduate of the National Training school at New York, and has had experience both as a secretary and as president of a city association. Opportunity of meeting her will be given all members on Sunday afternoon, October 4, when she will speak at the 4 o'clock vesper service.

M'GREGOR PRIEST HOME FROM WAR

Says Stories of Russian Troops Crossing England to Continent Are True

RUSSIAN MONEY IN MACHINES

Rumor Confirmed by Discovery of Kopecks in Railway Station Devices

M'GREGOR, Ia., Oct. 2.—Rev. Dowling, pastor of St. Mary's church, of this place, who in company with a party of priests from other points in Iowa has been traveling abroad this summer, returned Saturday night. His voyage home on the White Star Steamer Adriatic was an exciting one. The boat was crowded with refugees and officers and passengers alike were in constant fear of an attack. The ship was kept in total darkness at night and the strictest silence was maintained. Half way across the ocean an immense ice field was sighted.

Kopecks in Slots. Rev. Dowling brings confirmation of the reports that Russian troops have been transported through Scotland and England, stating that soon after it was rumored the Russians had passed through England to join the allies in France, it was found that slot machines at railway stations were out of order. Investigation showed that they had been crammed with Russian kopecks. Father Dowling had the good luck to be in Ireland when the war began. Others of the priests who crossed with him were not so fortunate. They were in France at the time and were arrested many times. The officials are particularly suspicious of priests as so many spies have been captured in the garb of priests or nuns.

Praises Home Rule. "On the day I sailed from Ireland," Father Dowling said, "the Home Rule bill received the royal assent and the dream of Irishmen for generations saw the dawn of its realization. This I believe will completely change the attitude of the Irish people toward England and the war."

M'Devitt—Sullivan. A wedding of unusual interest was that of Miss Marie Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sullivan, and Dr. Charles S. McDevitt which occurred at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning. The bride was attired in a suit of green chiffon broadcloth with collar of Irish lace. The wedding party drove from the church to Hotel Zimmerman, where a wedding breakfast was served to about thirty guests. The Walter Garmon orchestra furnishing music. At the conclusion of the breakfast a reception was held in the hotel parlors. The bridal couple left on a honeymoon trip to Chicago, Louisville and Notre Dame, Indiana, where a brother of the bride is attending the University. Dr. McDevitt is the son of Mrs. McDevitt, a well-known resident of Oelwein, Iowa. He is a graduate of the Louisville Medical College and was house physician in a Louisville hospital before coming to Iowa to practice. He is now located at Valley Junction, Iowa. The bride is the only daughter of T. J. Sullivan, who is the mayor of McGregor and president of the commercial club. She is a graduate of the Dubuque College of Music. Out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's mother and three brothers from Oelwein; Mrs. A. Solon of Sanborn, Ia.; Dr. and Mrs. Gollub, Hanover, Ill.; Mrs. Charles Chambers, Oelwein; and Miss Rafferty, Clermont.

Personals. Miss Grace Kennedy left Tuesday afternoon for Marion, Ohio, to join the Clara Wallace Concert Company. The company of eight musicians will tour the eastern and southern states this fall and winter.

Rev. T. C. Nielsen, pastor of the Methodist church, at the recent conference held at Cedar Rapids was assigned to the McGregor pastorate for another year.

Mrs. C. J. Neill entertained a company of ladies at dinner Tuesday. Among those present were Mesdames W. Knowles, Elwee, J. A. Walter, John Bickel, Clemens, Richards, Koop, Converse, H. H. Clark and Dunway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bloedel, old residents of McGregor, now of Duluth, have been guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Fette.

MARGUERITE HEADS BIG WEEK'S ACTS

"Black and White" and "Brown and Simmons" Add to Show Which Is Headliner All Through

"Marguerite," heralded as vaudeville's newest surprise hit, made good her contentions with a houseful of majestic patrons last night, presenting an entirely new light to the best impersonators, character singers, and mimic dancers LaCrosse has ever seen. Her quick changes are startling. She gains great applause.

"Black and White," two young ladies with an abundant fund of acrobatic ability presenting something new in the art of tumbling vie for supremacy with four other acts. "Brown and Simmons" prove they are pastmasters in the art of entertaining. Their singing is excellent, and they inject humor which "gets over." They bring pathos following laughter in a style which makes them popular with a changeable audience.

The Penn City Trio are musicians of rare ability on the cornet and trombone. One of their members does his part with the aid of the "black face." They are clever comedy singers. The audience took their efforts well.

Miss Camille opens the show with a miniature dog circus. With hardly a word of command, fox terriers and poodles show what kindness to the dumb animals will do. The dog act is an entirely new one.

SPOTLIGHTS

"THE ELOPERS" "System" is the title of one of the song hits in "The Elopers" at the La Crosse theater for one night, Tuesday, October 6, sung by Frank Ellis and a young, pretty and gayly costumed chorus. The subject of the melody pertains to a modern harem and is one of the most popular of a score of tinkly tunes.

Chief comedy honors in "The Elopers" fall to Fred E. Cady. In the first act Mr. Cady appears as a pseudo food inspector at a girls' school. In the second he appears as clerk of the Birchwood Inn, an up-to-date musical comedy hostelry, where come various couples in quest of lodging and matrimony. Mr. Cady and his fellow artists keep the fun going at a rapid pace throughout the entire entertainment.

Frank Ellis has the role of a Dutch comedian, pursued by the spinster proprietress of a girls' school. Little Miss Constance Campbell, in soubrette frivolity, is one of the liveliest of feminine talent. She is seen to advantage in the "Kewpie" number. Madeline Harrison attends to the serious musical business and cavorts about the stage in several original dances.

Had a Bunch of Them. Laddie was greatly impressed when the new baby turned out to be twins. Seeing his aunt coming, he rushed to the door and fairly bristling with excitement shouted: "O, auntie, come right in; we've got the awfulest bunch of kids."

TOMAH COUPLE IS MARRIED WEDNESDAY

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 2.—(Special)—Miss Emma Sommerfield, daughter of a prosperous farmer living three miles south of Tomah, became the wife of Walter Burr here yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 2:30 in the German Lutheran church by Rev. Glasner. Following the wedding a number of friends and relatives attended the reception, which was held at the home of the bride's parents. Football men at the high school this afternoon had their final practice in preparation for the game with Reedsburg tomorrow.

Mrs. Wm. Hilliker is reported very sick this week.

Mr. Ed. Callahan, roadmaster of the Valley division of the Milwaukee road, was here on business Thursday.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD-CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight, struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping in to the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Ascertain Your Specialty.

Not every man has equal earning ability or financial judgment. But every man has certain talents that may be used to better advantage than they are. Don't try to do the other man's job. There is one thing that you can do better than any one else. That ability developed means money for you. Then use a little horse sense and save for the future, or for that enlarged business you are dreaming about.

HOLLAND BITTER OVER ENGLAND'S SEIZING CARGOES

Resent Interference with Dutch Shipping and Terms Government
Had to Make

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 2.—There is growing bitterness of feeling throughout Holland against England because of her interference with Dutch shipping and her holding up of cargoes of foodstuffs and needed supplies, such as copper. This feeling is not pro-German, but it is frankly anti-British. Although it is reported that an arrangement has been made between England, the United States and Holland whereby foodstuffs are no longer to be held up, Hollanders generally resent the concessions their government was compelled to make.

Every ship that sails to or from Holland is being held up by the British and French fleets and ransomed from stem to stern. Charges are made that the international mails are interfered with. The Dutch burghers are frankly anti-German. They look upon Belgium's fate as what can be expected for Holland if Germany wins the war. But England's action in carrying the "right of search" to the present extreme has annihilated all sympathy in Holland.

GOOD NUMBERS IN BAPTIST COURSE

Five numbers comprising some of the best talent on the chautauqua and lecture course circuits, have been booked by the Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist church to appear here this year.

The first number will be on October 26 when Nanah Rance will appear in a varied program of sketches, scenes from plays, monologues and life lessons. Professor Smith, with a lecture on "The Modern City," will be here on November 26. The Play-Singers are booked for January 7 in an entertainment with music. The four members of the company are instrumentalists and vocalists.

The Rae-Myers Entertainers will be here February 2. The company, composed of Miss Grace Lowry, reader, and Miss Lawrence, harpist, is considered among the best on the platform.

A lecture on astronomy by E. L. Eaton, D. D., will close the course on March 2.

JAMES R. KERR TO SUE PURITY HEAD

B. S. Steadwell to Be Made Defendant in Suit for Expenses to Convention

James R. Kerr, prominent local vocalist, today said that he has placed in the hands of his attorney, William F. Wolfe, a claim against B. S. Steadwell, president of the American Purity league, of $118.00, money alleged to be due Kerr and wife for expenses to and from several meetings of the American Purity conference.

Steadwell, he says, agreed that he and Mrs. Kerr were to have their expenses for the work they did at the meetings. Mr. Kerr opened the meetings with songs and appeared at various times on the program. "I have repeatedly asked the local purity worker to O. K. my account," said Mr. Kerr today. "At one time he agreed to O. K. it so that I could send it to the treasurer for collection. I took the bill to his office and he refused. He claimed I had missed one session of one conference and consequently was not entitled to the money."

Steadwell has acquired some reputation as a purity worker and is editor and publisher of "The Light," a magazine devoted chiefly to a discussion of the sex problem, white slavery and kindred subjects.

By Richard Lloyd Jones: "The twenty progressives, representing the republican, democratic and bull moose parties, who were invited by Richard Lloyd Jones to meet in Milwaukee yesterday to consider ways and means of conserving the progressive government of Wisconsin, decided that every effort should be made to carry the constitutional amendments this fall, particularly the initiative, referendum and recall, and that every effort should be made to elect to the legislature those senators and assemblymen who stand for the progressive principles of Wisconsin. There was considerable discussion about an independent candidate, but no decision. The sentiment of the meeting strongly favored the candidacy of Senator La Follette, but definite action on this was deferred until the next meeting of these progressive representatives of the three dominant parties, who planned to reconvene in Milwaukee on Monday."

SMOKERS ARE HIT BY FOREIGN WAR

American made matches will entirely take the place of the foreign made product, and even these will go sailing in price if trade relations between European countries and the United States are not resumed shortly, is the opinion of C. J. Young, local cigar store man, following an interview with a representative of the leading match concerns of the country.

According to the match company representative, the material used in the manufacturing of the sulphur tip is at present scarce, with no hope of securing more during the present.

Matches made in Sweden, the penny-a-box safety, will soon be a thing of the past unless American manufacturers place them on the market.

The man who smokes will be one of the hardest hit of any to suffer from the old world war.

The supply of the better brand of pipes has been practically cut off; the man who "rolls 'em himself" will have to use American made cigarette papers, and even the price of tobaccos and cigars is bound to be affected, according to the local man.

It seems as though somebody could write a show where the hero don't get rich in the last act.

staff and the outlook for ultimate victory is very bright. In the operations against Antwerp, it is stated that two of the outlying forts have been silenced. The assertion is made that an attempted sortie by the Belgians was checked with very heavy loss to the enemy.

Advices from Vienna declare that the Austrian resistance continues undiminished and the Russians have made no appreciable advance. In the fighting in Russian Poland the advantage continues with the Germans.

Claim Two Antwerp Forts
BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Via Wireless Through Sayville, L. I., to The United Press.—In a lengthy official statement issued from the war office at noon today it is pointed out that the brilliant offensive operations of Gen. Von Hindenberg in Russian Poland, the siege of Antwerp, where two forts have already fallen before the Germans and the brilliant offensive undertaken in northern France, are "sufficient refutation" of the stories the Germans are lacking men to fight.

It is stated that in Belgium the Germans have captured thirty aeroplanes which were sent by France to Belgium for the use of the Belgian airmen. The battle of the Aisne, while still undecided, is claimed, shows favorable gains for the Germans. According to the report they continue to hammer the French positions with their heavy artillery at numerous points inflicting heavy losses. In addition, at every point where the allies have tried to break through the German resistance they have been hurled back with enormous casualties. This has especially been the case in the neighborhood of the Argonne.

Call Niemen a Victory
In the east the Russians attempted an offensive from Niemen, only to be repulsed with very heavy loss. The Russian fortress at Ossowjetz, is still being bombarded by the Germans while the Austrians have checked the Russian advance in Galicia.

Up to September 25 it is officially announced there were in German military prison camps 2,000 captured Russian officers, including 18 generals.

SCOUTS TO PARADE STREETS SATURDAY

Headed by their fife, drum and bugle corps, the boy scouts of the city will parade the downtown streets tomorrow afternoon before going to League park, where the local high school is to meet Lanesboro high in the first game of the year. The scouts will meet at Seventh and Main streets at 1:45 and from there will form for the parade. The scouts will be admitted to the grounds free. Members of the drum corps will meet at 1:30 at the Y. M. C. A. and receive their instructions for the parade.

MEN ARE SCARCE NOW IN BELGIUM

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

ANTWERP, Sept. 10.—By Courier to Ostend and Mail to New York.—The little Belgian soldier who climbed into the compartment was dead tired; he trailed his rifle behind him, threw himself into the seat and fell sound asleep. He was ready to talk when he awoke an hour later.

"Yes, I was up all night with German prisoners," he said. "It was a bad job; there were only sixteen of us to handle 200 Germans. We had four box cars and we put 25 prisoners in one end of the car and 25 at the other, and then four of us with rifles sat on guard by the door. We rode five hours that way and I expected every minute that the whole fifty Germans in the car would jump on us four and kill us. Four to fifty; that's heavy odds. But we have to do it. You see there aren't enough soldiers in Belgium to do all the work, so we have to make out the best we can."

That's the plucky little Belgian soldier all over.

In the first place he's different from most soldiers, because he is willing to fight when he knows he's going to lose.

"We have to make out the best we can," is his motto.

In the second place, he's a common sense little fellow. Even while he's fighting there is no blind hatred in his heart that causes him to waste any effort. He goes down to the why and wherefore of things.

"I really feel sorry for those German prisoners," said a comrade of the first soldier. "They were all decent fellows. They told me their officers had fooled them. They said the officers gave them French money on the German frontier and then yelled to them 'On into France.' They went on for three days and then got to Liege before they knew they were in Belgium, instead of France."

"We didn't want to hurt Belgium," they told us, "because we're from Alsace-Lorraine ourselves."

"You see," continued the logical little Belgian, "it wasn't their fault, so we couldn't be mad at them."

That is the Belgian's idea, cool logic.

"Why did you fight the Germans?" I asked a high government official.

"Because civilization cannot exist without treaties and it is the duty that a nation owes to civilization to fight to the death when written treaties are broken," was the reply.

"It must be a rule among nations that to break a treaty means to fight. The Germans broke the neutrality treaty with Belgium and we had to fight."

"But did you expect to whip the Germans?"

"How could we? We knew that hordes of Germans would follow the first comers but we had no right to worry about who would be whipped; all we had to do was to fight and we've done it the best we could."

It has been a cool headed logical matter with the Belgians from the start. Treaties are made with ink; they are broken with blood, and just as naturally and coolly as the Belgian diplomats used ink in signing the treaties with Germany so the Belgian soldiers have used their blood in trying to maintain the agreements.

be continuing, while in the line along the Meuse the Germans have been unable to advance, their pontoons having been destroyed. In consequence they are still on the east side of the Meuse river.

Text of Statement

The text of the official statement made public here is as follows:

"On our left wing the general battle continues with great vigor. This is noticeably so in the region of Roye, where the Germans have concentrated large forces, consisting of fresh reinforcements. The general action is extending more and more toward the north. The battle front has been extended into the region just south of Arras."

"Along the center the fighting continues to be for the most part a long range duel between our artillery and the Germans with only partial operations attempted by either side."

"On the Meuse, the Germans tried to build a series of pontoons in the vicinity of St. Michel. These were destroyed by our artillery, one being blown up at night."

DROP IN FLOUR PRESAGES LOWER PRICES OF FOODS

Flour has dropped twenty cents per barrel to local consumers, and the prices on other mill products have materially decreased. The news came as a balm today to the feelings of those most greatly struck by the rise of prices at the start of the European war.

Local merchants say the drop of flour prices leads them to believe that other food stuffs will drop in proportion, as they point out that flour was the first item to rise in price.

The Listman Mill company quotes the following prices today: Patents, $5.90 per barrel; Straights, $5.70 per barrel; Bran, $32 per ton; shorts, $25 per ton; white middlings, $29 per ton, and Red Dog, $33 per ton.

NEW CURIOS FOR NORMAL MUSEUM

Many Valuable Loans and Gifts Have Been Added to the Collection in Last Few Months

The State Normal school museum has been the benefactor of several valued gifts and loans during the past few months. Prof. A. H. Sanford today announced the latest additions to his collection.

Among them is a file of early La Crosse newspapers, including the Independent Republican, 1853, and the La Crosse Democrat, 1853 and 1854, loaned by H. E. Rogers. He also gave several early maps of the Badger state and a large number of pamphlets relative to interesting slavery discussions before the Civil war.

Old Fire Bucket

Former Professor L. F. Best of the Normal school has loaned an old time fire bucket, a couple of daguerreotypes and a box of pharmacy balances and weights.

Prior to his leaving for Chicago Howard M. Jones presented the museum with a curious steamer card from 1845 and an interesting copy of Harper's Weekly which gives an account of the sad death of President Garfield.

Mrs. B. L. Strouse has given the collection an old German sword supposed to be 200 years old.

Upon his return from Norway, Edwin Dahl, Galesville instructor, gave a collection of bayonets used in Norway a century ago, and a piece of bark bread, the same kind as was eaten by the inhabitants of the Norwegian peninsula at the time Norway won its independence.

Through the courtesy of Andrew Lees, the museum has received a bundle of old La Crosse papers and handsome portraits of the late Colonel Woodward and J. W. Losey. The pictures are today being framed and will be hung with the other portraits of early La Crosse settlers.

John Ulrich has added to the collection with a case of dental instruments used by one of the city's first dentists.

Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, 914 State street, has given the school a number of old books, which include a unique New England primer, 1777, a highly treasured gift, and a photograph on glass of a La Crosse musical club which was in existence in La Crosse in 1850. It is considered one of the most interesting presents made the museum recently, for it contains a picture of Mr. and Mrs. John Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jones, Mrs. T. H. Lord and Miss Lizzie Brown (Mrs. Russell), all pioneer residents.

Mrs. Josephine Kohn has loaned a book entitled "La Crosse Illustrated" published in 1887. Another history of the county was donated by Mrs. E. B. Rynning.

Websterians Meet

The Websterian literary society of the Normal school met for the first time Wednesday evening. A short program was rendered. Twenty new members enrolled and short speeches were given by several.

At general assembly on Thursday, President Cotton gave a short address to the students, urging the necessity of education.

The Normal school band gave an excellent concert on the campus on Thursday afternoon, entertaining the faculty, a large number of students and citizens.

The first victim of football scrimmage this year is Victor Cremer of Cashton. During practice a few days ago Cremer received injuries to his back and side. Dr. Evans reports that the muscles are injured.

SENIORS PLAN A HOT CAMPAIGN

Seventy-five members of the senior division of the Y. M. C. A. turned out to the supper given at the association last night. The seniors comprising the infantry in the military organization of the association in the annual membership campaign, laid out their plans for getting two hundred and fifty renewals and one hundred members. Twenty new members have already been secured by that arm of the service.

Colonel Barney addressed the meeting last night and enthused the gathering with his ardor for the cause.

Following are the captains of the nine squadrons: Andrew Boyd, Jr., Walter Bartz, Jack Brindley, John Sanders, Charles Heyerdahl, Eugene Crider, Allan Mollison, Everett Yerly and Alfred Scheel.

BURY LITTLE BOY

The funeral of Robert William Bonner, son of Mrs. C. H. Jones, Grand Crossing, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the home. Rev. M. E. Fraser officiated. Burial took place at Oak Grove cemetery.

and ascended. He entered the room of Mr. and Mrs. Paul. He had already secured the jewelry when Mrs. Paul saw him and screamed. Her husband awoke and springing out of bed, dashed for the burglar. He fled. Down the stairs he went, Mr. Paul pursuing. So close was Paul on his heels that he did not stop to seize his shoes, but plunged through the window and down the street, dashing across Cass street and into the yard of D. G. MacMillan, West avenue south and Cass street.

There Mr. Paul lost track of him and returned to notify the police.

Police Dragnet Out
Immediately the police dragnet was thrown out. The night men who were already on their way home were picked up by Chief Webber and others with automobiles, Dr. R. E. Flynn, county physician and Health Commissioner J. M. Furman offering their services. Dr. Flynn donated the use of his auto. All railroads were notified to be on the lookout for a "short, swarthy man wearing white striped blue overalls."

Residents in all sections of the city, especially those on the outskirts were given descriptions and told to notify the police if they saw anyone answering the description. Charles E. Wenzel, grocer, 1315 Redfield street, gave the police their first clue. He went into his barn to pitch down hay. The robber, shoeless, was in the loft. He was driven out by Wenzel, who immediately notified the police. The chase from then on was thrilling. Young boys in the neighborhood of the Wenzel store were told to follow the man. They pursued him, but he proved too fleet and eluded them.

Youth Grapples Thief.
At Fremont and Weston streets, in the southern section of the city, Mr. Ryhold grappled with the fleeing robber. The half-breed, despite his small stature, showed remarkable strength, tossing him aside and at the same time hurling his valuable "loot" in the grass. He continued south until finally cornered near the Hammock works.

Harris denies that he perpetrated any of the previous attempted burglaries saying he came to town only last night. This the police do not believe, in view of the fact that he answers in every detail the description furnished by people of the man they had seen attempting to enter houses.

The stolen jewelry which the police recovered with the assistance of the night-time thief, consisted of one diamond ring, a ring with a large ruby and a large diamond, a ruby ring, the ruby surrounded by small diamonds, a sapphire ring surrounded by diamonds and a brooch of aquamarines and studded with three expensive diamonds.

Paul Appreciative
In appreciation of the clever and rapid work of the police in capturing the robber and recovering the jewelry stolen from his home, Mr. A. G. Paul today sent to the department a box of cigars and a $100 check to swell the police pension fund.

MANY ARE REPORTED KILLED IN ATTEMPT TO STORM ANTWERP FORTS

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Germans have failed in two attempts to carry the outer fortifications of Antwerp by storm. Apparently they learned nothing from their lesson at Liege, and instead of relying on their artillery to reduce the forts they have tried to carry them at the point of the bayonet. And again they have registered a most disastrous failure. Their dead number thousands. They are strewn over the entire front of the Antwerp fortifications that protect the city from movements from the south.

This was emphasized by the official press bureau, which, in a statement issued this afternoon, declared utterly without foundation German reports that they have taken two of the outer chain of forts.

"The news received from Antwerp says that the situation so far as the Belgians are concerned, is excellent," says the announcement. "The Germans have failed in every attempt to take the forts. They have repeatedly charged the Wavre and St. Catherine forts. In each instance they have been repulsed with heavy loss."

WAR ODDITIES

PARIS.—The battle ground of the recent fighting near Paris has now been cleared and danger of infection removed. Eight hundred firemen were sent out to clean up the battlefield.

LONDON.—Officers and men of Jewish faith serving in the British army still in England were granted furloughs wherever possible that they might attend religious services on New Year's and the Day of Atonement.

COPENHAGEN.—German artillerists have named their huge siege guns which work such havoc with fortifications, "busy berthas," after Bertha Krupp, now the real head of the Krupp works.

LONDON.—Astrologers agree that the stars are dead for Germany. The predictions of one published in an Indian paper state that the stars tell much the same stories as they did when England gained her victories at Trafalgar and Waterloo.

MELBOURNE.—At the next meeting of the Heidelbergshire council the question of selecting a British name for the township will be taken up.

SHEFFIELD, Eng.—The big cutlery factories here are desperately endeavoring to execute on time a war office order for 500,000 razors. It is the largest single order on record, and the manufacturers are working overtime.

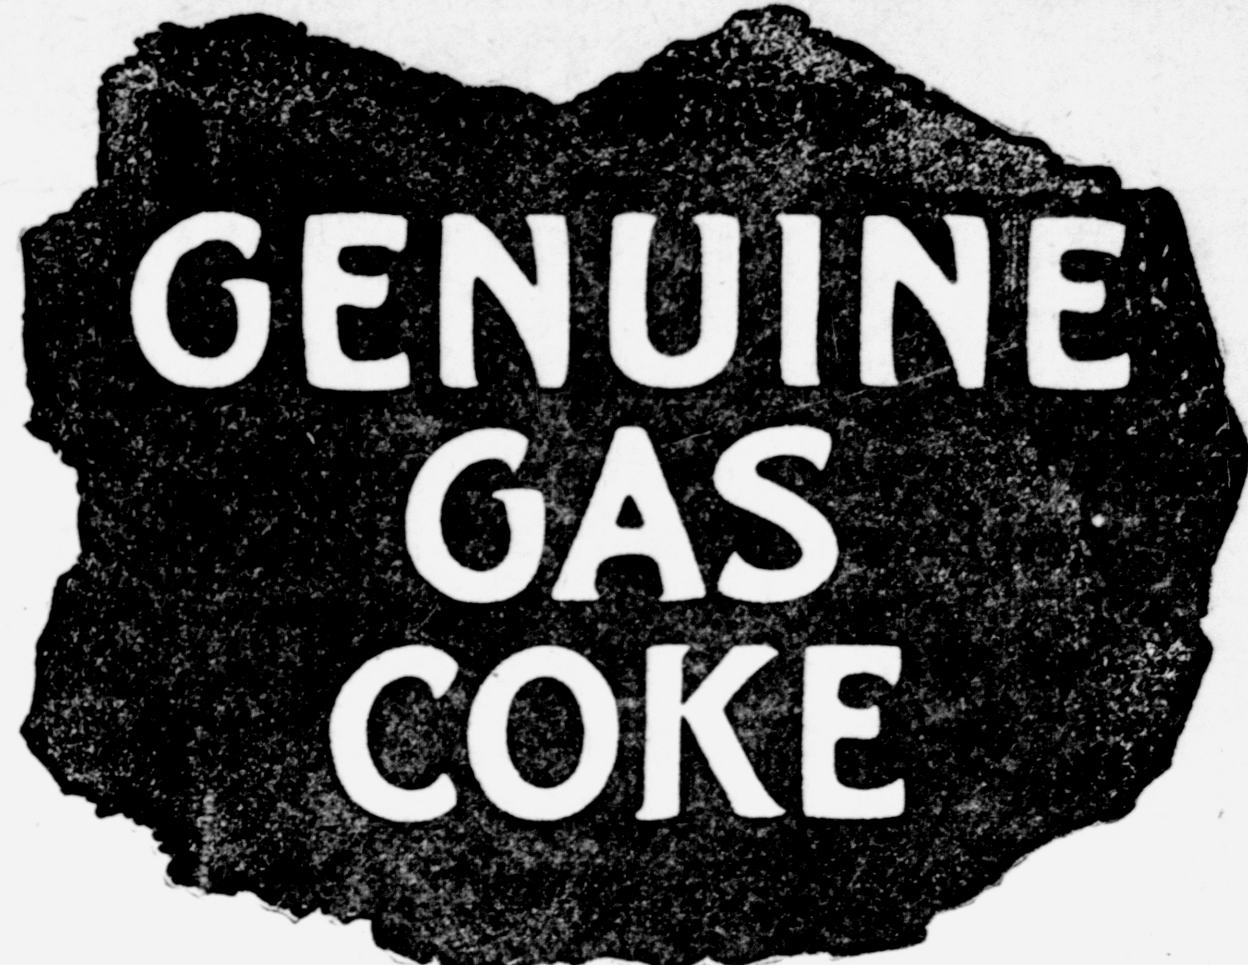

LONDON.—A story is told of a farmer boy who came from the field to be informed by his father that his brother had been killed in action. "Well, I must take his place," said the boy. Then he walked to the recruiting station, enlisted, and is now at the front.

LONDON.—In the metropolitan police district 2,780 "alien enemies" apart from those captured in war, have been arrested and are now held.

PARIS.—Not having been in the army, the young son of a Paris lawyer purchased an automobile and then offered it to the government in hopes of getting the front. He put a price of one franc on the machine, on condition that he be engaged as chauffeur and was accepted.

LONDON.—Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood has issued a proposal that hunting be not abandoned because of the war. He declares hunting is important training as the dash of the British cavalry is attributable to the hunting at home.

LONDON.—An officer of a submarine, telling of his vessel resting on the bottom for hours after being sighted by German ships and fired upon, said the men played auction bridge while waiting for a chance to come to the surface and escape under cover of darkness.

WILSON LAUDED BY LA FOLLETTE

Editorial Praise from Senator for President's Mexican Policy; Urges Heney

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 2.—"Those who mocked at his Mexican policy now offer up prayers of thanksgiving that we are not involved in an endless and fruitless war with Mexico. This is Senator La Follette's editorial reference today to President Wilson's course with respect to the European war.

"Because of his course in dealing with the European war," he says, "President Wilson today holds a supreme place in the confidence of the people of the United States. In the estimation of his character and service all other subjects are subordinated to the one great fact that everywhere finds spontaneous expression in the simple phrase: 'He is keeping us out of war.'"

President Wilson's every move for peace, every act for strengthening neutrality, has the stamp of sincerity, of wise caution and fearless purpose. Full in the eyes of the world he maintains a calm and poised in direct ratio to the responsibility that rests upon him. Incidentally the country rejoices that Wilson is president, not Roosevelt, whose recently expressed attitude toward disarmament confirms this judgment."

In another editorial the senator makes a strong plea to the people of California to elect Heney United States senator. He calls Heney the "greatest graft prosecutor of history."

They are raising a lot of fuss in the east about yaller journals. Any newspaper will git yaller if you leave it on the pantry shelf long enough.

HIGH SPOUTERS TO MEET TONIGHT

The regular meetings of the high school literary societies will be held this evening at the high school building. The Lincoln-Douglas society meets in room 209. The Wendell-Phillips society meets in room 107. The meetings will be called to order at seven-fifteen.

The Lincoln-Douglas society will discuss the question, "Resolved, That President Wilson's Colombian policy is justifiable." The affirmative team is composed of H. Andersen, R. Cavanaugh and J. Dickens as alternate. L. Mahoney, B. Mul-downey, R. Anderson as alternate, will uphold the negative of the question.

Miss Hargrave, who recently returned from England, will give a short lecture on the conditions in that country at the present.

The Wendell-Phillips society will debate on the question, "Resolved, That the School Board is not justified in Charging High School Students for School Supplies." Roche and McKivergen will uphold the affirmative against Hansen and McLaughlin of the negative.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question and "How to Prevent Colds" is asked a thousand times every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but due to a disordered condition of the blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the body better able to withstand the varying elements.

This is the underlying reason why the medicinal fats in Scott's Emulsion quickly overcome colds and build strength to prevent more serious sickness. It contains nature's medicinal fats, so skillfully prepared that the blood profits from every drop, and it is free from harmful drugs or alcohol.

The convictions of ex-Congressman William Willets, who bought the nomination, and Louis T. Walter, Jr., the go-between, also stand.

U. S. COTTON REPORT

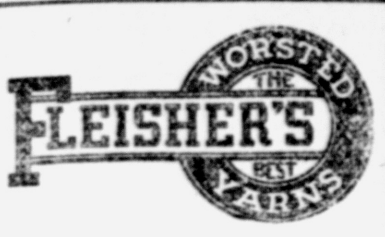

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The monthly cotton ginning report of the census bureau today stated 3,381,863 bales were ginned from the 1914 crop up to September 25, against 3,246,655 last year. Round bales included in the report were 3,292 against 26,983 last year.

When some people have a little time to waste they annoy others who haven't.

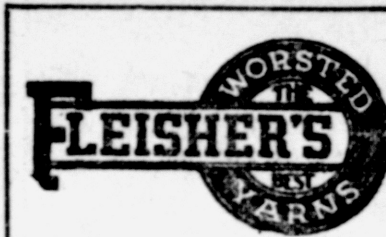

UNDERTAKERS BOOST DISEASE PREVENTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—Disease was given the unkindest cut of all today when the long procession in celebration of Indiana's novel disease prevention day wound through the city streets. Seventeen undertakers clad like crusaders and bearing banners with the inscription "Disease Prevention Crusaders" headed the parade. Disease received even a severer jolt when the float of the Indiana Medical society hove in sight. It consisted of a doctor's office, deserted save for the dejected medical man, who sat looking at a sign bearing the words, "It's hard on us, but we're for it."

Every city in Indiana celebrated "Disease Prevention Day" today.

ENGLISH OFFICERS DISLIKE DISPLAY

Kitchener, French and Douglas Reserved Beyond Approval of the Public

OFFICERS ALL "KITCHENER" MEN

The Infantry Calls Kitchener and Douglas, and the Cavalry Air John French

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) LONDON, (By Mail to New York)

Oct. 2.—A striking point about the men who are in command of England's armies during the present war is that the majority of them are of the silent and "unpopular" type.

Not personally unpopular, of course, but not of popularity seekers. They are all "Kitchener's men," and Kitchener does not approve of advertisement of garrulity. "K. of K." himself, is a calculating machine, and pays not the slightest attention to popular approval or disapproval.

Where another man would explain a temporarily unpopular scheme, Kitchener disdains to do so and pursues the even tenor of his way without regard for anyone's feelings or any consideration. He is not loved, but he is respected by everybody, and his appointment to the War Secretaryship was hailed with a general sigh of relief.

Even his machine-like "mailed fist" arrangements for the military part of King George's coronation, only made people say "Curse the brute, he might be dealing with Russians," but it didn't stop them admiring him. They appreciated the fact that he was merely making a thorough job of it and that for business purposes, spectators had no rights at all.

French in Same Hole Field Marshal Sir John D. P. French, commander-in-chief of the British Expeditionary force, is another quiet man. Sometimes the public profess a real affection for "Jack" French, but they always wish he would show a little of the geniality of "Bobs" (Earl Roberts), the late general Buller and Backacher "Gatacre." When crowds, waiting outside the war office cheered him, French looked surprised and annoyed.

It was as cavalry leader that French made his name, though he was originally destined for the navy, in which service he remained four years. His exploits in the Egyptian and South African wars marked him out as perhaps the most dashing cavalry leader in Europe.

French Saves Gatacre Gatacre's defeat at Stormberg would have been an absolute rout but for French's cavalry, and while every British general was losing hard earned reputations, French was serenely dashing along the Orange Free State frontier, checking pursuers and raiders and generally giving the enemy cause to "think furious."

French's cavalry it was who rounded up Cronje at Paardeberg, enabling Kitchener to bring up his guns and infantry to smash the Boer general, and it was French who rushed his advance guards into Bloemfontein, Pretoria and Barberton before the Boers were aware of his proximity. A small tactician man with a bullet head, he is frequently passed unrecognized by would-be admirers.

He resigned the post of Chief of the Imperial General Staff as the result of the famous "Gough Memorandum" during the Ulster crisis but at the request of King George he took over his former job of Inspector-General at the outbreak of the war.

Douglas Reserved General Sir Charles W. H. Douglas, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, is little known to the public. A dour, Scotch soldier, he participated in Robert's famous march to Candahar, and served with distinction in India, Egypt and South Africa. In the last Boer war he was on the staff and showed little of the showy work, but his list of "mentioned in despatches" has rarely been excelled. Douglas would be mightily astonished if anybody cheered him, and he would probably consider it an impertinence. Anyway his is not one of the faces that decorate picture postcards and not one in a thousand would recognize his photo if they ever saw it.

PUMPKIN SOUFFLE Cook in a double boiler for thirty minutes, one cupful of pumpkin pulp from which the moisture has evaporated, one cupful each of cream and milk, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, half of a saltspoonful of salt, half a saltspoonful each of ginger and cinnamon. At the end of thirty minutes add the beaten yolks of three eggs, cook one minute, then fold in the beaten whites of three eggs. Fill small puff pastes with the mixture, set in a hot oven until the top is slightly glazed. When cold spread strained honey over the tops and serve at once.—The Mother's Magazine.

CRANBERRY FRITTERS To the yolk of two eggs, well beaten, add half a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of olive oil, saltspoonful of salt and a cupful of flour; when ready to use add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Have ready three tablespoonfuls of cranberries that have been stewed and sweetened, stir these into the batter and fry in hot fat. Drain, sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.—The Mother's Magazine.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Use it like a cold cream and dry Eczema eruptions right up.

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist.

This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destriving properties and nothing has ever been found to take its place in relieving irritable and inflamed affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet, in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation and heals the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.

Any good pharmacist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur cream, which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with tortuous itching.

WEST DISCUSSES LIKELY CHANGES

Says that England Will Take Over German Colonies; France Will Cede Alsace-Lorraine

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Austin West, Staff Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle in discussing possible changes of frontiers when the war is over, has the following to say under a Milan date line:

"As for likely changes in the map of the world at the end of the war, I think it probable that Great Britain will take over the German colonies, giving Spain and Portugal a share therein, as a reward for their neutrality.

"Russia will limit her demands to Galicia, at the same time setting guarantees for the entire independence of the four Balkan States. Since Russia has no interest in the Adriatic problem and moreover, cherishes a warm friendship with Italy, she will not offer protection over Albania. In addition, there will be a rectification of Italy's northern frontiers on a national racial basis.

"I think France will resume possession of Alsace-Lorraine and the Palatinate while Austria will remain a German State and form a part of the Germanic Confederation.

"This will raise the question whether the German Emperor will be merely king of Prussia or also king of Austria. It seems to me quite unlikely that the United States will intervene, and if Sweden should assert herself on behalf of Germany she would find her action paralyzed by that of Norway and Denmark."

CRANBERRY POP-OVERS Sift together two cupfuls of flour, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Beat one egg, add one and a half cupfuls of milk, and stir into the dry ingredients. Stir in also two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and a cupful of cranberries cut into halves. Bake in a quick oven twenty minutes and serve with cherry sauce.—The Mother's Magazine.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapiesin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapiesin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapiesin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

OLD SCHOOL NOW BELGIAN CAPITOL

Government Work Is Carried on in Classrooms at Antwerp, the New Capital

WILL FIGHT HARD IN SIEGE

William G. Shepherd Says Belgian Seaport Can Put Up Strong Defense

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Sept. 19.—By Mail to New York—If the Germans take the city of Antwerp, goodness only knows where the Belgian government will move to. I have just come from the city to which the government moved, bag and baggage—that is as much as baggage as could be moved in a hurry—out of the vast government buildings in Brussels, into the old high school buildings of Antwerp.

The secretary of state now carries on his work in a schoolroom; the secretary of war has the old arithmetic room, and other officials who are accustomed to all the luxurious surroundings of European courts, are doing the best they can in humble quarters.

Ministers Willing No one left Brussels with greater alacrity and willingness than the ministers of foreign governments. The ministers, including the Russian and the English, decided that they were accredited, not to the city of Brussels, but to the Belgian government and when the Belgian government moved, they moved with it. At this writing, the ministers, their families and suites are conducting their affairs in the hotel St. Antoine.

Describes Forts I have seen the fortifications. Half a century ago, the great earthen walls which surround the city and the water moat outside the walls, would have held off an army. But siege guns were then unknown. At various distances in the walls are gateways through which the street cars and other traffic passes. Just now the street cars do not run outside the walls, and though the great gates are open in the day they are slammed shut by the soldiers at 8 o'clock every evening and the city is locked up like a house. Not even a cat could get into it. Woe betide

the citizen who is outside at 8 o'clock. All the knocking he can do on the great steel gates won't open them. I cannot tell of all the preparations I saw in Antwerp for reporters are not allowed in war times to tell everything they know. But I can say that Antwerp won't fall without a struggle.

Jefe Denyns of Malines is here. He is the man who plays the forty great bells in the cathedral spire as Paderewski plays a piano and whose basso notes are thundered out of a bell that weighs forty tons. Denyns says that he is ready to play a triumphal concert the moment the Germans start to attack Antwerp.

FIRMS FORM POLICE FORCE LONDON, Oct. 2.—Because most of the police have joined the army scores of the large firms throughout London and in other cities, have formed "police forces" from among the clerks who remain. The police reserves were organized at the suggestion of the authorities.

The difference between a politician and a statesman is that the statesman has got the job and the politician wants it.

HOOSIERS REACH MAROON STATION

Childs' Athletes in Chicago for First Game Tomorrow; Princeton Considered Strong

HARVARD GETS LIGHT WORKOUT

Pennsy Downcast by Drubbing Given Varsity by Scrubs; Oliphant Strong at Army

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—

Fourteen members of the Indiana university football squad arrived here today for tomorrow's battle with the Maroons, the first clash on the western conference football schedule. They were sent through a light drill by Coach Childs.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 2.—Happier feeling pervaded the football atmosphere today following this season's first flash of real form shown by the Tiger backs in yesterday's practice. Digs and W. Trentmann showed a smashing attack that was highly gratifying to Princeton supporters.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2.—Only light work is scheduled for the Crimson squad this afternoon. The return of warm weather and the driving practice of the early part of the week are Coach Haughton's reasons for letting up a little. The varsity only took ten minutes of real work against the scrubs yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Deep, dark gloom—gloom so thick you could cut it with a knife—filled the atmosphere at the University of Pennsylvania today. Lew Young sent his freshmen eleven against the Penn varsity yesterday, the youngsters winning six to nothing. They would have scored two more touchdowns, but for fumbles. The varsity was outplayed all the way.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The Army is rounding into splendid shape for its opening clash of the season with Stevens Saturday. Oliphant, the former Purdue star, is proving a brilliant ground gainer in scrimmage against the scrubs.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 2.—Yale coaches are not at all satisfied with their kicking prospects. Knowles and Legore are being tried at this department now and while their work has been good, the mentors profess to be worried.

NELSONS MEET OPACOS

The Nelsons will meet the Opacos Sunday at Onalaska in what will probably be the last game for the north siders this year. As both teams are tied with one game won each, the game Sunday will be hard fought. Evenson will throw for the Nelsons.

Contentment.

Contentment is the pearl of great price. Few persons are satisfied with their lot. No matter if they have plenty of work and good wages, they envy some one else who is doing better. The boy with the toy cart envies the lad with the bicycle, and the latter looks with covetous eyes on every motorcar that passes by. So it goes everywhere. The poor envy the rich, and the rich envy each other, and under such conditions the preacher of a gospel of envy finds it easy to gather a congregation.—Leslie's Weekly.

Poison Ivy.

Poison Ivy contains prussic acid. This is found principally in the young leaves and buds; in older leaves there is very little of it. In three and a half ounces of young leaves there is about a quarter of a grain of the acid. As with other plants in which prussic acid is found, the poisonous substance does not exist in its perfect form, but develops as soon as the leaves are bruised, a chemical action being set up through the union of an enzyme with a glucosid.—Philadelphia Record.

Deadlocked.

"But I cannot understand why you say no. Your mother has no objection to your marrying me?" "No, and I have not the slightest objection to my mother marrying you, so there you are."—Houston Post.

STICKLE AND BIRKLO WIN PLACES IN SEMI-FINALS

Bridgman and Kircher Drop Out of Running in County Title Tourney at the Country Club; Moore and Hanks Win

Two more men dropped out of the running of the tennis championship tournament at the Country club yesterday when Moore beat Rosholt in a preliminary and Hanks bested Kline in a second round in straight sets, 6 to 1 and 6 to 1.

The match between Moore and Rosholt was by far the closest and hardest fought of the tourney. Moore winning but by the margin in both sets. The first went 8 to 6 and the second went to extra innings, the final score being 18 to 16.

Stickle and Birklo won places in the semi-finals by defeating Bridgman and Kircher respectively. Birklo took his match in straight sets, 6 to 1 and 6 to 1, while Stickle needed three. Bridgman showed a marked reversal of form in the last two sets, after taking the first 7 to 5. The second and third he dropped by scores of 6 to 1.

ADMIRAL SIR JOHN JELICOE

England shook with rage at the announcement of the destruction by a German submarine of three of her cruisers: the Cressy, the Aboukir and the Hogue entailing a loss of sixty officers and over one thousand sailors. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, has declared that "if the Germans won't come out and fight in time of war they will be dug out like rats out of their holes." There certainly will be something doing pretty soon and Sir John Jellicoe, the admiral in charge of the British fleet, is expected to force the Germans into a fight.

War Clamps The Lid On Gay Paree And All Is Merry As a Mausoleum

PARIS, Sept. 14.—By Mail to New York.—The lid is on gay Paree! Like a lot of other features of the war of 1914 it is inconceivable, unthinkable! Yet it is true.

The lid does not fit. It chafes. It is unbearably and robs the wearer of her natural charm. But there it is—pinned on by the words of several thousand Parisian police.

Today with every official communique bearing increasing thrilling reports of the success of the French and English arms in turning back the German tidal wave which only a week ago threatened to engulf the French capital, the half of the population which did not fly southward is so oddly quiet and undemonstrative as to quiver an old acquaintance.

Razed Gay Paree

The Paris that was, simply isn't. The incongruity that remains is a song without music, a perfume without an odor, a champagne without a taste or a sparkle. Paris, the municipality, remains, but without firing a shot or getting within sight of it, the Germans have razed gay Paree.

In Berlin women have been forbidden to wear crepe because of the possible depressing effects. Crepe could add nothing to the fog-like solemnity here. It is as though Paris was doing penance—under orders, not from choice. Imagine the Rue De La Paix sealed, two-thirds of the hotels closed entirely, and four out of every five shops and streets boarded up and sealed with a tag bearing the most overworked word in the French language—"Ferme" (closed). Imagine French newsmen forbidden to cry their papers and forced to carry signs in their caps telling which paper they handle. Imagine Paris papers limited to a single edition a day and forbidden either to issue extras or to indulge in a headline of greater width than two columns.

All Theaters Closed

Imagine the opera and every theater shut. Imagine the Latin quarter and the Montmartre closed. Imagine Maxim's cutting out the lights at 9 o'clock preparatory to shooting everyone out into the street half an hour later. Imagine everything that once was bright and gay, as dead as Main street in Swayzee, Indiana, after 9 o'clock at night. Imagine every dress suit and dinner jacket in Paris put away in moth balls. And Clo-e-lo, Dodo and Flo-Flo, and the other girls from the Cafe De Paris—gone—no one knows where. Imagine the Cafe De La Paix at tea time looking like the town tavern in Painted Post, and then you may be able to sense in some vague, half comprehending way what Paris is like, not under the monarchy, not under the empire or the commune, but—under the lid.

Shock for Paris

The oldest inhabitant never saw anything like this. Paris received the shock of plunging into a warm bath and finding that ice water had been substituted. It was some shock. She is out of it now but her teeth are still chattering. France had planned an offensive campaign. At least the public thought so. Then came the word that the Germanic horde was coming, that it could not be checked. Uhlans were seen within six miles of the outer ring of fortifications. The exodus began for those who could go. For those left behind came the lid.

A week followed with horror and nervousness, but no fear. The stories from the front show that the French are wonderfully brave. It was a real test and the elements which cause the fizziness and effervescence in the French character were precipitated. The situation called for, and the police ordered, calmness. To the surprise of even those who gave the order it was obeyed.

As this is written the latest dispatches from the front giving news of continued French success are being printed. The news was issued at 11 o'clock last night. At that hour all Paris was sound asleep. It had been certain this news would come and yet the curfew law was not broken to find out what had happened.

BUSY FOOTBALL YEAR FOR WEST

Thistlethwaite Sees Chance for West to Exert Superiority Over the East

MANY INTER-SECTIONAL GAMES

Michigan and Notre Dame Have Battles with Harvard and Yale

CHICAGO ILL., Oct. 2.—With football about to occupy the center of the stage—every conference team will be in action tomorrow—the United Press has obtained from Glen Thistlethwaite, coach of the championship Oak Park team, his forecast for the season. The opinions of this football expert are backed by achievements. His team holds the championship of the middle west, winning all its games of the past season. It bids fair to repeat this year, having defeated Ottawa High, itself a championship claimant, by the score of 57 to 0.

By GLEN THISTLETHWAITE (Written for the United Press) The near approach of the 1914 football season heralds the most interesting year in the history of our great amateur game. More inter-sectional contests have been scheduled than ever before. A greater variation in the individual schedules has been made and in every case an effort also has been made to bring the best teams together, not as a national affair but in each section and state as well.

Last season Harvard could claim nothing more than the Eastern championship even though she was represented by the most wonderful team in her history. For this season we find Michigan, who has always been a contender for the Western honors and Vanderbilt, who has repeatedly won the championship of the South, on the Harvard schedule. Yale has followed Harvard's example and scheduled a contest with Notre Dame, another contender for Western honors.

In high school circles, the game corresponding to the Michigan Yale contest will be played between Oak Park and Everett at Boston, allowing a comparison of the best teams of the east and west, that will in its way, be as interesting as the game of two more mature teams.

Particularly every western college squad started practice nearly two weeks ago while the ambitious candidates for the conference university teams had been going through preliminary training for a week or more prior to the opening of the regular practice season which started Sept. 21.

On paper, the stronger teams of last year look quite a little weaker at this date on account of the loss of stars by graduation. On the other hand the weaker eleven have material that will greatly strengthen their lineups.

Chicago Disrupted

The championship Chicago eleven has been broken up so badly that Stagg has a hard task before him if his team is to be in the race until the end. The same can be said of Minnesota, where not only graduation but failures in studies has made inroads on Coach William's squad.

Purdue, Wisconsin and Iowa ought to be fully as strong as last year where not more than the usual number of stars has been lost. Illinois is making no predictions but it is understood that Coach Zuppke has considerable more than enough monogram men for an eleven as well as his freshman and upper class recruits.

Northwestern and Indiana, the weak sisters of last year's campaign, have changed coaches, both schools obtaining eastern men. This alone has aroused more interest in the student bodies of the two universities and with this renewed interest and the injection of new systems of coaching, stronger material has reported and entered the work with renewed vigor.

Lure of the Opera.

The music of operas always has been and always will be the lure of its millions of patrons; the singing, too, is frequently brilliant and perfect, but the presentment of scenes from life upon the stage where everything, however commonplace and banal, is sung, however beautifully, will always sadden the soul by the very impossibility and inappropriateness of the spectacle. Fat tenors and sopranos expire in flights of high notes, choruses express various quite unnecessary sentiments with what vocal skill they may, and the average person who likes music and a little logic, too, is thrown into ecstasies of wonderment.—Musical Standard.

Some Baby Facts.

A normal baby weighs seven to seven and one-half pounds at birth, fifteen pounds at five or six months and twenty-one pounds at twelve months. The baby should double its weight in six months and treble it at about twelve months. Its length at birth is twenty to twenty-one inches, at six months twenty-five to twenty-six inches, and at twelve months the length is twenty-eight to twenty-nine inches. Gains in weight are more rapid during the first six months. The average weekly gain is about four ounces. The best time to have a baby vaccinated is in its first year. If it is healthy it may be vaccinated at the end of the third month.—Health Bulletin.

WOUNDED MAN TAKES SEVEN HOURS TO CRAWL 500 YARDS

LONDON, Sept. 19.—By Mail to New York.—How a former schoolmaster now in the British army crawled 500 yards across a battle field to bring aid for wounded comrades, though he had himself been struck by a shell, is told in a letter which has been received by Rev. W. Johnson of York. A comrade accompanied him on his slow, painful journey and they were seven hours crawling the 500 yards.

The writer, Fernand Duchene, was a French master at Archbishop Holgate's school. Telling of his experiences, he said: "On the morning of September 6 the general issued orders that we were to stand our ground at all costs. We did it, but at what cost! I was going to charge a village when a shell fell behind me, burst and hit me in several places—three times on the head, twice on the right leg, at the ankle and thigh, and once on the left leg at the ankle. I was left on the battlefield and crawled to a hut and there I found nine others.

"We were exposed to a terrible fire from the artillery and expected the hut to be blown to pieces at any time. Toward the end of the second day we decided that two of us should volunteer to fetch some help, so I did, and another followed.

"We were exactly between the French and German lines, so we started crawling on all fours. We had no sooner appeared at the door than—as it was a moonlight night—the gunners saw us. How we escaped I don't know. We just managed to turn the corner and were safe, but it took us seven hours to crawl 500 yards. When we reached the ambulance in the French lines I told them what I had done and where my comrades were and had the supreme reward of hearing the cure say above the buzz, 'You have done very well, my child.' I felt him kiss me on the forehead and fainted away. Three hours later, when I regained consciousness, I had the pleasure of knowing that my comrades had been saved."

FRENCH CARRY RESERVE FOOD

Each Fighter of France Has Five Pounds of Food on Back in Case of Emergency

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Every man in the French army carries on him one day's reserve rations, which may only be used in case of extreme urgency. They consist of 30 grammes (10 1-2 oz.) of war biscuits, 30 grammes of preserved meat, 50 grammes of condensed soup, 36 grammes of coffee, 80 grammes of sugar. There is also a litre of brandy for every 16 men.

The food served out daily consists of 700 grammes of bread, 100 grammes of rice or haricot beans, 24 grammes of coffee, 32 grammes of sugar, bacon, salt, and 500 grammes of fresh meat and or 300 grammes of preserved meat, with 50 grammes of puree de legumes to make soup.

Revictualing (says the "Morning Post") is carried out as far as possible by rail. The difficulty is that the regiments are continually changing their quarters, and thus the commissariat has difficulty in finding them. To simplify matters each day a special station is chosen for each army corps. The regimental

PHILIPP TODAY IN BLACK RIVER FALLS

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Oct. 3.—Emanuel L. Philipp addressed a crowd at the Jackson County fair here today.

He reiterated his statement that he considered himself bound to reduce the expenditures of the state if elected to office and said that he considered this statement a sacred pledge to the people of Wisconsin.

Mr. Philipp also devoted a portion of his address to the pledges made in the platform and declared that the entire republican ticket was bound by its promises to give to the state an economic and businesslike administration and to do away with all useless appendages to the state government. Mr. Philipp declared that this did not mean that anything that was beneficial to the state of Wisconsin would be cut off but that it did mean that the state of Wisconsin payroll should be materially reduced.

BRITISH CYCLE CORPS WITH ITS COLT GUN

The heavy rains of the past month have handicapped the efficient services of the British Cycle corps. They are equipped with a light colt gun and usually a couple of "bikes" are sufficient to drag it on any kind of a road. But with the whole country transformed into a muddy and slushy swamp the efforts of the cyclist are taxed to their limit and very often the whole corps has been rendered idle by the impossibility of reaching the fighting lines on account of the bad state of the roads.

BLAME FOR WAR NOT GERMANY'S

Franklin Club Decides the Fatherland Was Forced Into Awful Conflict Against Her Will

RACE PREJUDICE CAUSES CONFLICT

Russia, France and England for Years Have Been Jealous of Empire, Decides Franklin Club

Germany is not responsible for the present European war, according to the decision of the Franklin club in their first debate of the season at Fjelstad hall. The jury decided two to one in opposition to placing the blame for the struggle on Germany. Harry Robinson, leader of the affirmative, led the debate with a careful and comprehensive resume of the events and circumstances leading up to the conflict, aiming to show that the military policy of the Kaiser had been the one big cause of the war.

Roy Ahlstrom, leader for the negative, gave probably the most convincing discussion of the debate. Through the tracing of the upgrowth of the national spirit in the Balkan states, especially in Serbia, since the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina had been ceded by Austria, Ahlstrom held that in the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand and his wife Serbia saw a chance to force matters, feeling reasonably certain of the aid of Russia.

Austria Right. Austria, he maintained, in demanding an explanation from Serbia of the assassination, was but upholding her national prestige, much the same as did the United States in demanding that Huerta salute the national colors after the Tampico incident. Serbia refused and Austria stepped in to force an explanation. The rest is but a matter of history. "Germany," said Ahlstrom, "was in this case placed between two fires, Russia and France, and she had to strike and strike soon."

He maintained that the action of Germany in crossing over into neutral Belgium to reach France was but a necessary step. Jealous of Germany. Causes more remote than the events of the past six months were responsible for the break, the leader of the negative maintained. The diplomatic relations of the countries of Europe previous to the war are unknown, but it is known that England, France and Russia have had a feeling of jealousy against Germany for her rapid rise in world trade.

Harry Spence, assisting Ahlstrom, held that race feeling and race difficulties are more to blame than any other one thing for the war. Russia, he said, has been known for years to cherish an ambition to reach Constantinople through the Balkans.

Conditions Cause War. In the break between Austria and Serbia, Germany saw that she must strike as it was inevitable that Russia would rush to the assistance of Serbia.

"The war," he said "is the result of conditions just as was the civil war in this country."

Not since the mock trial of W. A. Barber last winter has the club drawn the attendance that it did last night. More than one hundred members and visitors were present.

For the debate next Thursday the club has chosen a discussion of the advocated special war tax by President Wilson.

REPORT COTTON CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The condition of the cotton crop September 25 was 73.5 per cent normal, compared with 78 per cent on August 25; 64.1 on September 25, 1913, and 68.5, the average for ten years on September 25, according to the monthly cotton crop report of the department of agriculture, issued today.

By states the cotton crop condition September 25, 1914, was: Virginia, 80 per cent; North Carolina, 79 per cent; South Carolina, 72 per cent; Georgia, 81; Florida, 81; Alabama, 78; Mississippi, 68; Louisiana, 67; Texas, 70; Arkansas, 69; Tennessee, 70; Missouri, 72; Oklahoma, 80; California, 96.

Highest Endurable Temperature.

It is difficult to say what the highest temperature is that a human being can live in. In the kitchens of some of the great hotels and in the stokeholes of some steamships the temperature gets to 140 or 145 degrees. Cooks and their helpers and stokers have to endure that temperature for hours at a time, and they seem to get along pretty well. The hottest place perhaps where human beings work is in the vulcanizing factories, where the temperature is 212, the boiling point of water. There are a few who can stand this heat for a little while at a time, but that is the limit; man can endure no more.—New York American.

GERMANS KEEP UP BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP WALLS

Shell Forts with Field Guns but Have Not Mounted "Busy Berthas" as Yet

ANTWERP, Oct. 2.—The bombardment of the southern chain of the Antwerp fortifications continues without interruption. Under cover of last night the Germans moved a number of their guns closer to the city. However, they have not yet opened with any of their long range 16.3 inch siege mortars. Belgian air scouts say none has yet been mounted.

The Germans have razed most of the outlying suburbs of Antwerp.
They have guns posted on the outskirts of Heystopdenberg, Thisselt, Londerzel and the other little towns which heretofore have been spared the war penalty. The inhabitants have fled either into this city or across the Dutch frontier.

King Albert continues in personal charge of the defenses of the city.
He has had the active assistance of a number of crack British aviators.

Pierre Lanze, Who Killed Fifteen Germans

Pierre Lanze, a Belgian soldier, was decorated by King Albert with the cross of the Order of Leopold because, in a recent battle, he killed fourteen German soldiers and the colonel of their regiment.

The photograph shows an officer of his regiment handing him the order of the king and congratulating him. He is now one of the Belgian national heroes.

Viennese Women After Looking at War Office Lists of Dead

This is a group of Viennese mothers, who daily haunt the bulletin board placed outside the Austrian war office to see if their sons and husbands, of whom they have not heard since the war began, are among the wounded or the dead. It is just a photograph of one scene. A hundred of them might be taken every day. In this group there was one woman, who had received word that her son had been killed. In the photograph she has her handkerchief to her face while she is steadied by her friends.

CAMERA CATCHES AUSTRIANS MEETING A RUSSIAN ATTACK

Austrians in battle.

Russian official announcements of the utter defeat and annihilation of the Austrian armies are not taken as seriously now as they were at the beginning of the war. Serbian and Montenegrin reports of great victories are also being taken with a grain of salt. The truth seems to be that while the Austrians are being defeated, their losses are not half so bad as their foes would like to have the world believe. Austrian soldiers seem to lack the patriotic fervor which inspires the soldiers of the Kaiser, and this explains in part why Austria has not made a better showing against Russia.

War Bulletins

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The official press bureau issued a warning this afternoon to all shipping, that the British admiralty had mined certain portion of the southern part portions of the North Sea. The statement says the new mine zones will be carefully mapped out and pilots furnished to take vessels through them.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2.—The wounded Russian officers who have arrived here from the front declare that the Niemen river is filled with bodies of Germans killed in action. The German losses they declare, number fully 20,000.

LOUVAIN 'PHONE GIRLS HEROINES

ANTWERP, Sept. 10.—By Mail to New York.—Out of the horror, the terror and confusion in the burning of Louvain by the Germans has finally come a story of the heroism of two young girls, which will go down in history along with the gallant defense of Liege by the men of the nation.

Valerie Di Martinalli and Leonie Van Lint were merely telephone operators before the Germans entered Belgium and then destroyed the city of Louvain. Now they are national heroines, for with shells bursting around them and flames crackling on every side they remained at their switchboards until the telephone wires had been cut, torn down by shells, or carried away by the falling walls of buildings. They knew that over the long lines which they controlled the orders of the Belgian staff officers were being communicated to retreating troops. To desert the switchboard meant these orders would not be received and confusion and disaster might follow. They remained at their posts. The two young women were on duty when Louvain's day of destruction began. Gradually the sound of the German guns came nearer. Shells began to burst in the town and then shrapnel rained against the building in which they were working. Flames sprang up from buildings about them. Still the wires held and still the two young women sat at their switchboards, making connections for the hurried orders of the Belgian officers. Everybody else had long since fled from the town when the last wire snapped and Valerie and Leonie knew they could do nothing more. Then they crept from the building. Mitralleuse bullets spattered in the street about them as they hurried from the zone of death.

They escaped without injury.

THEIR GREAT FACTORY RUNS NIGHT AND DAY BUILDING GUNS FOR GERMAN ARMY

Dr. Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach and his wife.

Dr. Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach and his wife, who was Fraulein Bertha Krupp, are the proprietors of the famous Krupp gun and armor factory which supplies the German army with guns and ammunition. Forty-six thousand men are being constantly employed at the factory, which is now working day and night.

Dr. von Bohlen und Halbach was in the diplomatic service when he married Fraulein Krupp and the Kaiser gave him the privilege of affixing Krupp to his name in order that that name might be perpetuated.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—11 A. M.—

The extension of the western battle front toward Belgium to the northward, is being partly checked by lateral offers of resistance by Von Kluck's and Von Boehm's troops. As the allies concentrate closer and closer to the north, the Germans are thrusting forward parts of their north and south battle line. The attempts to halt the northwestern enemy constitute a series of blocking operations.

By adopting this method, the Germans are delaying the attainment of what appears to be the new strategy objective of the allies, a powerful attack upon Von Boehm's northwest corner of the German battle square, near the Belgian boundary.

The arrival of a large force of Indian troops at this time should have an important bearing upon the allies' movement against the German right front. If the Indians began disembarking at Marseilles a week ago, they could all be ready for active service now. Twenty-five thousand troops a day can be moved to the front in an emergency by a modern railway system without creating confusion. If the Indians total 75,000 as has been suggested, it would be no impossible matter to have practically all of them on the battle line at present, even after allowing for a brief rest to recover from the cramping railway journey of 600 miles.

munication may not be working smoothly. The sudden desire for assistance in running the most important part of an army's mechanism is disconcerting. It is meaning is that a partial break has occurred in the working of the French railways the arrival of the Indian infantry may be largely delayed. It is curious that the British government should issue a call for railway men coincidently with the necessity for rapid transportation of her Indian troops.

The increasing fury of the attack on Antwerp emphasizes the need for releasing the German troops in Belgium. Whether Antwerp falls or whether the allies finally drive the Germans out of Belgium before that happens, eventually the German defense will be strengthened by the troops now acting offensively against the Belgians.

This fact must be remembered in estimating the power of the German resistance, for it will play an important part in the future. If the Germans are driven back to the Rhine, the Belgian army of occupation, and the one guarding the communications will go with them. This force largely outnumbered the Belgians who would be released for field service, assuming that the Belgians would march with the allies into Germany. The consequences would be that the German defensive strength would automatically increase as the German boundary was reached.

Defeat for the Germans along the Aisne and in Belgium, if entailing only an orderly retreat, will thus increase the Kaiser's power of resistance against an overwhelming defeat.

AUSTRIANS TRY TO SILENCE BATTERIES

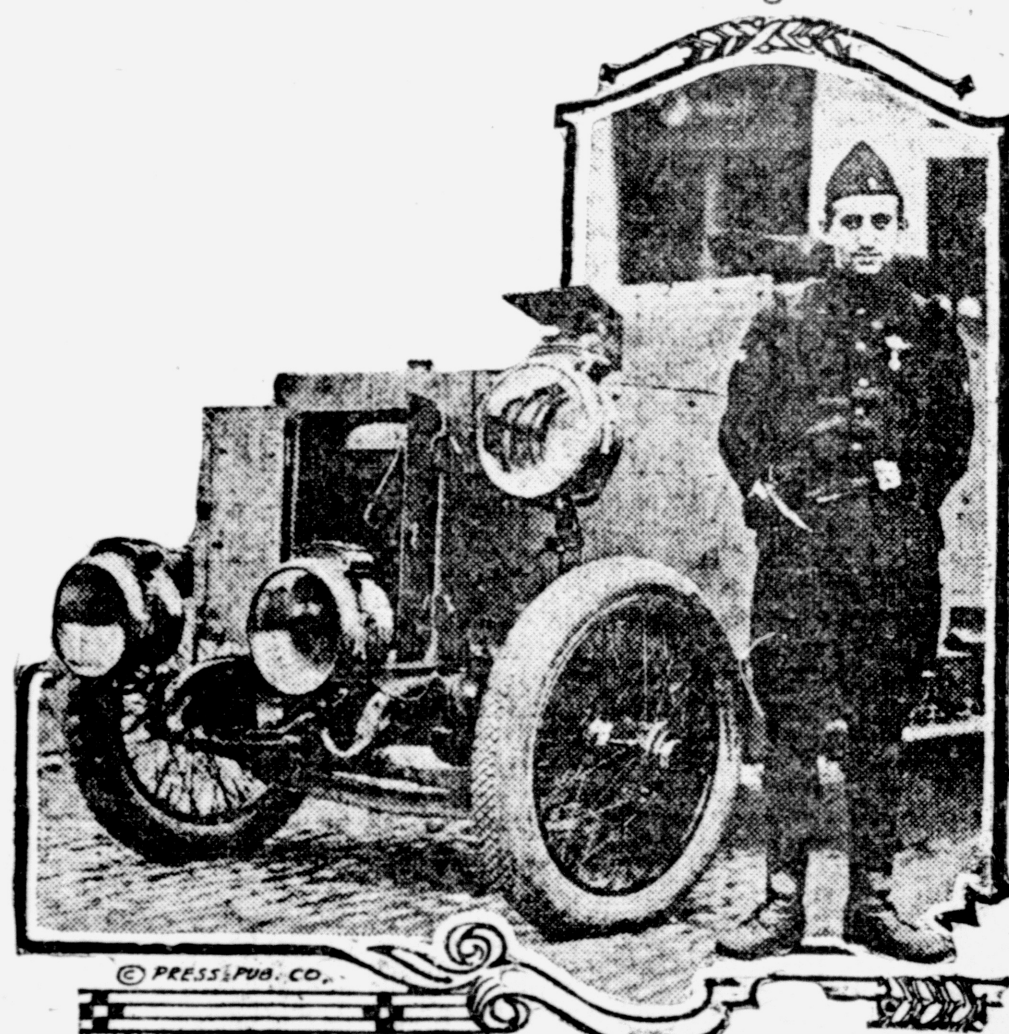

CETTINJE, Montenegro, Oct. 2.—The Austrian land batteries, and the battleships which took refuge in Cattaro harbor to escape the Anglo-French fleet now blockading that port, united all day yesterday in an effort to silence the guns on Mount Loncen. The French are bringing up additional heavy artillery and this action was an attempt to destroy the French-Montenegrin batteries so that they could not be placed in position on the mountain. The effort was not a success as the Montenegrins managed to silence the shore guns and the fire of the warships caused little damage.

The heavy French guns are slowly being dragged up the mountain side and will be in position early next week.

One per cent of the salt in the oceans would cover the land areas of the world to a depth of 290 feet.

American a Hero of the Belgians

George Straus, son of George Straus of New York city, is an American who has been heard from in the great war. This photograph shows him wearing the cross of the Order of Leopold, which King Albert of Belgium himself pinned on the American's breast.

Straus, who has been the chauffeur of an armored motor car shown in the picture, led a daring raid into the German lines to blow up a bridge. Several Belgian officers, who were also engaged in the action, were killed and the Prince de Ligne was wounded. But Straus and his party got away safely after accomplishing their work. King Albert was quick to reward the action.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

JAPAN—Constant bombardment by land and sea of the German fortified positions of Kiau Chau have resulted in several fires being started inside of the fortifications. The Japanese expect that the governor must soon surrender but they anticipate a spectacular dash for freedom by the German squadron inside of the harbor. A special Japanese squadron has been detailed to attack them as soon as they emerge.

FRANCE—Heavy naval guns, manned by naval gunners, have been sent to the right and left of the battle line north of Paris to outflank the Germans. The British Indian troops who landed at Marseilles are reported as already on the firing line.

ENGLAND—Interest continues to center in the bombardment of Antwerp because of fears that it cannot long hold out. The war office says operations in France "continue successful."

BELGIUM—King Albert is in personal charge of the defenses of Antwerp which is being subjected to a constant bombardment by German field artillery. Most of the suburbs have been destroyed by the Germans.

RUSSIA—The war office officially announced distinct victories over the Germans in Suwalki province, Russian Poland, and declares that the Russian army is already engaged with the combined Austrian-German army in Galicia near the first line of the Cracow defenses.

SERBIA—It is admitted that the Serbians cannot take Sarajevo, capital of Bosnia, by storm, but it is declared that the general offensive of the combined Montenegrin and Serbian army in both Bosnia and Herzegovina is continuing, and that the attempts of the Austrians to retake Semlin have failed.

GERMANY—The German war office statement today denies that the Germans have given way by the allied assaults. It is stated that an evident French flanking movement is in progress but that steps have been taken to frustrate it.

ITALY WARNS WORLD OF WAR CENSORSHIP OF NEWS ON CABLES

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—An indication that Italy plans to take an active hand in the news censorship, and possibly an intimation that her expected participation in the European war will not much longer be delayed, is contained in an official notice sent out by the cable companies today. In this notice the following announcement is made:

"The Italian administration, referring to the articles of the international convention which empower a state under certain circumstances to stop the transmission of telegrams, gives notice that it reserves the right to stop any cablegrams without notice and that no claims on account of such stoppage will be considered."

ROME, Oct. 2.—The Bulgarian minister here has been ordered to expedite the immediate return to Bulgaria of all officers of the Bulgarian army now in Italy or Switzerland.

French Artillery in Action in the Battle of the Aisne

The French artillery fire has been one of the principal factors of the war. In scores of statements from German sources, mostly letters found on dead or wounded Germans, the remark has been made that the artillery has done more damage than any other troops of the war. This photograph shows the guns being set up in preparation for an assault on the distant Germans.

HINDUS MEETING

LONDON, Oct. 2.—News agency dispatches from Calcutta say that the Hindus who were expelled from Vancouver by the Canadian government multinied on their arrival at Bajaj, near Calcutta. They refused to leave the steamer, the Kamogata Maru, and attacked the police. They were finally landed and the fighting was then renewed and sixteen of the Hindus were killed.

Oriental Jeweled Watch.

Jeweled clocks are comparatively rare, but jeweled watches are somewhat common. The nabab of Rampur possesses a watch which is valued at over $18,000. The lower case is cut from a single topaz, the upper from an emerald, and a diamond ground very thin serves for the glass. This watch, which was put together by a Simla jeweler, shows the seconds, minutes, quarter hours, half hours, hours, days, weeks, months, seasons, years and leap years up to A. D. 9999.

First Cost "Jokers"

"First cost" saving is an "ostrich way" of figuring tire economy—the only true way is to figure on the ultimate cost of your tire service.

The "bargain price" first cost of a tire is the "joker" in your purchase unless the tire adds up enough actual mileage to make it the cheapest tire in the end.

Veteran car owners know this—serious minded business men know this—that is why "Nobby Tread" Tires are the largest selling high-grade anti-skid tires in the world today.

"Nobby Tread" Tires "make good." They actually give the CHEAPEST TIRE SERVICE.

Automobile owners everywhere are rapidly learning to buy tires on a real business basis, viz:—the basis of ultimate economy.

And remember this—investigations prove that with "Nobby Tread" Tires punctures are 90% less than with the average tire.

Based upon their remarkable mileage records

"Nobby Tread" Tires

are now sold under our regular warranty—perfect workmanship and material—BUT any adjustments are on a basis of

5,000 Miles

Ask these dealers—they know about "Nobby Tread" Tires—they will tell you why they are by far the cheapest tires to use in the end—they are the reliable dealers in every locality.

The Pains of Sciatica

Dr. E. C. Underwood says that there is no expression of neuritis which is more distressing than that known as Sciatica. The cause of this condition is usually exposure to cold and dampness. One of the most common causes is rheumatism; indeed this is so often the cause that some writers include sciatica among the varieties of rheumatism.

The treatment includes remedies to counteract the cause of the disease, as well as measures looking to the relief of pain. Whatever treatment may be employed, two things must be borne in mind—the patient must be kept as free from pain as possible and be kept as quiet as possible. One of two Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given every two or three hours, and the patient must be warned against going out in inclement weather.

Anti-Kamnia Tablets may be obtained at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

In Headaches, Neuritis, and all Pains they give prompt relief.

PHILHARMONIC TO START NEW SEASON

Local Musical Organization Makes Plea for Support of Public-spirited Citizens

LAST YEAR A GREAT SUCCESS

Concert One of the Best Ever Rendered Here; This Season Promises to Be Record Breaker

A strong plea for support, to make possible the perpetuation of the La Crosse Philharmonic society is made in a general letter, sent to La Crosse people today by Leigh Toland, the president.

The concert rendered by this La Crosse organization last spring is still fresh in the minds of La Crosse people. As is always true of organizations which are not "in the game" for profit, the Philharmonic "needs the money" and La Crosse people, who believe it is doing a good work for the city are requested to lend moral and financial support.

The letter follows:

"The La Crosse Philharmonic Society orchestra gave the finest and most finished amateur concert ever given in this city. This fact is well known to the citizens of La Crosse. It took faith, hustling, courage and much perseverance to make our concert last spring a success. It was a great success from every standpoint. There were many ready to predict failure when we first organized, and they continued to predict failure while we were organizing and rehearsing; they attended the concert, (many of them on complimentary tickets) and continued to predict failure until the curtain went up and the overture was played—then there was a silence. No idle predictions have continued, excepting that it will never last for another concert. We had more to meet than you can even guess. The papers were full of it. We finally won the union to a man, with one petty exception, a professional musician who engages other men and who has opposed us because he has a little orchestra. We have offered him everything, offered to co-operate, to play with him, but his petty jealousy overshadows the city interests, so we ignore him and his kind. Today we are endorsed by the Musicians' union and they are playing with us.

Needs Encouragement

"It won't last a second year. It will last a second year if YOU will give us a little help, just a LITTLE real help, encouragement, boosting, a little of your time and a little of your influence, and a little of your money. We have certainly MADE GOOD. It is not a matter of promises. You know what we can do. If we get the support that we have demonstrated we are entitled to, this orchestra will be the biggest single advertising feature in La Crosse. We are still organized perfectly, we are rehearsing regularly absolutely every Sunday, and are going ahead counting on SUCCESS and nothing else, because we know that you and the rest of the generous and high-minded citizens are going to help us.

Amateurs Wanted

"What do we want? We want every amateur in this city. Get after him, get him to rehearsals, talk 'Philharmonic' because it is La Crosse. All things being equal, send your son or daughter to our director, F. W. Rawstorn for piano instruction. You know he is competent, a gentleman and a musical scholar. We want to keep him here. Remember that every dollar we have received has been recorded and our books are open to you. Every dollar we get will be recorded. Our officers are regularly elected and responsible. Come up to our rehearsals, take an interest. We rehearse every Sunday afternoon at the 'W. B. U.' hall. Just come in and take a seat and stay as little or as long as you like. You will decide one thing and that is that the Philharmonic is the best thing ever organized for the amateurs.

Financial Aid

"First thing we need right now is a little money. We are thankful for any amount from two dollars upwards, but do the best you can. RIGHT NOW is the time we need it, this is the time we really need your help, financial and moral. Hope you will give us just a little of both and a lot of your good will and friendship.

"Very truly yours,
"LA CROSSE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY."

IRISH EAGER TO REACH FRONT

LONDON, Oct. 2.—An instance of how anxious Irish soldiers are to go to the front was witnessed recently at Chelsea Barracks, where the Irish guards were quartered. Late one evening some one spread the rumor that the Irish guards were to be transferred to one of the army depots. That evening was one of the wildest known at Chelsea Barracks. Then came the announcement that the rumor was true.

Immediately the Irish Guards set up the cry, "We want to go to the front. Our place is in France. We won't go to any depots." For more than an hour the yell kept up. Then the officers made speeches telling the men to be patient, that they soon would be off for the scene of fighting. Even after these promises, a force of mounted police was established about the Barracks to insure peace and quiet.

A famous cathedral in Italy, the cornerstone of which was laid 637 years ago, only recently was completed.

Hansel Sweater

Here is an idea taken from the peasant dress of a tiny Belgian. It is intended for a serviceable knock-about sweater—and the yarn will stand the wear. But it is so pretty that you will probably want to keep it for "best." You will find it easy to make and a charming gift. Although the Fleisher Yarns are the finest made, the quantity required for this garment costs less than a dollar fifty. Send the coupon below for free directions. The yarn used is Fleisher's Germantown Zephyr, 4-fold—one of the sixteen

FLEISHER YARNS

A garment must hang well. It must be soft and warm. It must stand hard wear. No matter how great your skill you cannot put these qualities into your work—they are yarn qualities. The uniform high qualities of the Fleisher Yarns are acknowledged by yarn-users everywhere. Whatever kind of yarn you need, always insist on Fleisher's—look for the trademark ticket on every skein.

Buying Health Insurance

A prominent man writes:

"Why shouldn't I be able to employ a physician to examine me periodically to determine the state of my physical health? I go to my dentist every six months. If he finds a little surface cavity he fills it before it becomes big. As a consequence, my teeth are sound.

"It seems to me that if this course is wise in the care of the teeth, it ought to be applicable to the balance of my body. When I applied to my physician, he laughed and told me to 'quit fussing about myself.' I'm not hysterical about my health, but I can't see why I should be considered a crazy man when I suggest that I want to make certain there aren't some little troubles that can be removed or corrected before they become big. Why, my wife even takes her jewelry to the repair man periodically, in order that she won't lose a setting. Why shouldn't I consider my health to be as valuable a possession as a jewel in a vanity outfit? Am I crazy or is the doctor?"

Answer: I should say you are mentally sound, quite sound. You startled the doctor. He isn't accustomed to such requests. Haven't you noticed the consternation of a conductor, when an uncommon passenger hands him a ticket that was overlooked in the collection?

The physician should have complimented you on your good sense. Like all other physicians, however, he is more accustomed to seeing sick, hysterical, imaginative people than hard headed ones. The chances were a hundred to one that you belonged to the abnormal class. The physician took that chance and was wrong. In the next ninety-nine similar consultations he would be right. Not a bad proportion in any class of work. What is to be hoped for is that the odds will be reduced. As more people come to appreciate your point of view, there will be less chance of physicians making the error this one did.

Your idea is spreading. Don't abandon it. You might do worse than to organize a little company to secure the commodity you need. See a previous article entitled "Cost of Cure."

JOYS WE MISS.

How small a portion of our life it is that we really enjoy! In youth we are looking forward to things that are to come; in old age we are looking backward to things that are gone past; in manhood, although we appear indeed to be more occupied in things that are present, yet even that is too often absorbed in vague determinations to be vastly happy on some future day when we have time.—Colton.

MOTHER! GIVE CROSS SICK CHILD ONLY "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

If peevish, feverish, tongue coated, give "fruit laxative" at once.

No matter what ails your child a laxative should be the first treatment given.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign your "little one's" stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children need to be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.
